JESD Board Hands Expense Policy Back to Greenwood

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A proposed policy governing the use of credit cards and travel expenses within the Jefferson Elementary School District, drawn up by Superintendent Frank L. Greenwood, failed to get past the board of trustees last week.

Instead, it was decided to turn the matter back to Greenwood for rework. He was expected to confer on the matter with Chief Deputy District Attorney Lem Summey before bringing a revised policy back to the board.

The board had directed Greenwood to draft policies governing the use of credit cards, expenses and the district's revolving cash fund some weeks ago.

Of the three matters before Wednesday's special meeting of the board, only an inter-district agreement for children was passed.

The other three items, as has been the pattern in recent months, ended with rhetorical exchanges between two differing board factions and the superintendent.

At one point in the discussions, Greenwood called the issue of expenses a "political football."

Because of the nature of the issues, Summey was asked to attend the meeting.

Follwing discussion on a number of contingencies that might arise from school business involving trustees and administration, Summey explained the district attorney's office "feels very strongly" that tight controls should be maintained on expenditure of public funds.

Summey said in every case blanket authority — a Carte Blanche system — should be avoided.

And expenses of a personal nature should be assumed by the individual.

All necessary and actual expenses, including planned conference travel on behalf of district business, should be with the consent of the board. If a board member or school district employee assumes an expense without prior Board approval, he does so at his own risk of nonreimbursement, Summey explained.

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors now has such a rigid policy and they "appreciate it," Summey pointed out, "because it eliminates any temptations" on the part of a board member.

Trustee Edward Tomasello cited as an example of an "emergency matter" where prior board approval might not be given because of time involved, the case of pending legislation concerning a school matter where his opinion is solicited.

Summey replied a trustee first should make it clearly understood he was speaking in such a case only for himself and not for the entire board. It would behoove the board to better coordinate its efforts on public matters in an effort not to misinform the public, Summey said.

"If a member acts on his own, how can it be a governing board expense?" Mrs. Beverly Forrester asked.

Summey said this was a "classic example" of why a tight policy was needed in the JESD, a policy that would enable the district "to ride herd on" expense monies.

Chairman Albert Collett asked that the matter be tabled and "reworked" because a board member might run the risk of doing something wrong unknowingly.

Before the matter could be closed, however, Trustee Dorothy Adams said the State Education Code specifically forbids expenditure of public funds to push legislation. She said she felt any member who wanted to try to influence legislation on any subject should do so with his own funds — not the public's.

Trustee Forrester had called the present district policy on expenses "one of the most liberal in the county."

District officials were being given advance travel expenses from the revolving cash fund and, in most cases, prior board approval was not obtained for the junkets, some as far away as Montreal, Canada, and Boston.

The district attorney ruled the RCF could not be used for this purpose, and henceforth prior board approval for all such expenses is required.

Greenwood stated to the board at the outset of the meeting he was disgruntled with those who criticize the board and administration whenever they try to do their job conscientiously.

And he reminded that members serve without compensation.

Mrs. Forrester said she spends a lot of her own money — perhaps as much as $200 monthly — as a trustee.

"We all realized when we decided to run (for the job) it would be without pay," she said.

Council in DC Splits On Car Paint Shop

The Daly City Council, in a wide-open split decision, has rejected a bid to open a car spray paint business in an area of the city that is now under redevelopment study.

It was a decision that will undoubtedly have far-reaching and lasting effects. Had it passed, some city officials feared it would have opened a pandora's box and set a precedent which would allow other businesses to establish in the area.

When redevelopment studies began some months ago the city took action to "freeze" the district in an R-1 (residential) zone category. Underlying this freeze zoning is a C-1 zone — commercial and business.

There have been cases where the emergency redevelopment zoning has been lifted and a variance granted. Normally, the company making application for this variance agrees to close shop at a given date at no added revenue on the property's worth.

In other words if the property was appraised at $10,000 when the freeze went into effect and a business was granted a temporary variance and, in turn, put another $10,000 in improvements on the property it is understood the original estimates stand.

Even with assurances and legal agreements three members of the council did not want to accept the deal.

Application for the variance was made by auto company owner Harry C. Curusis to open a spray paint shop at 20 Theta Avenue.

Three members of the Planning Commission — all those attending the hearing — asked the council to approve Curusis' application. Two other commissioners were absent.

The city's planning staff had asked the request be denied.

Planner John Walker and assistant planner Bill Wojkowski both felt granting of the variance in this particular area would constitute a special privilege inconsistent with the limitations upon similarly zoned properties in the vicinity.

The council, after much discussion, voted the request down.

Councilmen Paul Hupf and Louis J. Papan, however, disagreed with the council feelings on the issue and pointed out Curusis had owned the property prior to the emergency freeze coming into effect.

Granting such a variance would allow him to get full use out of his investment while awaiting progress of redevelopment, if it comes at all.

Schools Open Next Week, 'New Look' in the JESD

There'll be a new look in the Jefferson Elementary School district when school opens on September 11. And the look should encourage children to want to attend school, Supt. Frank L. Greenwood predicted today.

Not only have the heretofore drab battleship-gray colored school buildings in the Daly City district been newly painted with what Greenwood calls "exciting colors," but new instructional programs have been added to round out an almost complete educational program.

Greenwood said he was enthusiastic about the accomplishment the district has been able to make as a result of his staff's work and the school board's appropriation for improvement of the JESD's over-all operation.

The superintendent said that while years of work and planning have enabled the district to add new programs annually, this year's efforts will round out a solid base for improved instruction from which "an outstanding school district can be built."

The school people feel that it has been a false economic concept to standardize colors of school buildings in order to buy large quantities of one color of paint at a reduced price.

Greenwood said he believes that while trying to save money on materials, the drab appearance created a building in which neither children nor parents could take pride.

This, he feels, has also led to increased vandalism.

Starting out cautiously, a few schools were painted "differently," and children were encouraged to paint murals that would make more pleasant surroundings in which a child could learn.

This has proved so successful, according to Greenwood, that it is now felt that vandalism costs might be reduced.

"Even if our assumptions prove incorrect, the community and children can live in an environment that is considerably improved and pleasant to observe," Greenwood said.

Leaving the visual improvements aside, the superintendent pointed out that gains have also been made in the classrooms where a complete battery of special programs will be in operation.

The addition of the opportunity classrooms for children with behavioral problems, and the beginning of the new bilingual program in Spanish and English for children for the first time this year, should round out the total program and give a base for further development, Greenwood said.

According to the district spokesman, the school has what he calls "a complete program in special areas for the first time in its history."

Such programs include classes for dysphasic children, visually handicapped and hard of hearing youngsters, opportunity classrooms for those with severe behavioral problems, two new bilingual classes and three special classes for retarded children.

It was also explained that the compensatory education program for culturally deprived students that has been in operation for the past six years at the Woodrow Wilson School is being extended to the Crocker School this year.

"All in all," Greenwood said, "we are happy for the children of this district and the fact that these programs can be offered at this time. One area which needs our attention and will receive our attention and planning will be that for "gifted" children.

"Teachers are aware of these children and have had to accommodate them on an individual basis rather than under a planned detailed district-wide program. This will be corrected in the foreseeable future," Greenwood said.

Ted Long Petition on Recall Is Dismissed

An appeal filed by former San Bruno Councilman Ted Long declaring signatures on recall petitions were insufficient has been dismissed as "moot" by the First Appellate District Court in San Francisco.

Long, now seeking an assembly seat in the 27th district, said he is studying the court's decision and will either appeal it to the State Supreme Court or take a new tact and challenge the fairness of the recall election itself.

When a petition of sufficient signatures for recall of Long, Dick Griffith and Neil Christal was filed by City Clerk Carl Hultberg on December 10, 1970, a suit was filed by the subjects of recall declaring insufficiency.

Purpose of the trio's suit was to obtain an injunction barring any further proceedings on the recall, which had been set for March 2, 1971.

The initial writ of mandate was denied on February 28, 1971. When the injunction failed, all three filed a notice of appeal, but only Long filed briefs. The recall election subsequently ousted Long and Griffith, but Christal retained his seat.

Regarding Long's appeal, the court ruled in essence that since the election already has been held, the issue of whether there were sufficient signatures is a moot point.

"The purpose of appellant's proceeding, whether by injunction or mandamus, is to establish insufficiency of the recall petitions and thus bar the election. But the city council resolution establishes that the election has been held, the results canvassed, appellant's recall declared and his successor declared elected.

"This proceeding is not an election contest. No grounds for such contest are stated, and the fairness of the election itself is in no way attacked. We find no case directly in point, but conclude from analogous decisions that the matter is moot," said the decision in part.

Long said his first reaction to the decision was that of disappointment because "we feel those signatures were invalid."

The assembly candidate said he read into the court's decision that the fairness of the election itself was not attacked, by doing so, Long might achieve the desired results.

"We will investigate this. What we're really attacking is the issue of one man, one vote," said Long, who strongly believes that concept is missing no recall procedure.

Man Wounded in Bruno Parking Lot

A 35-year-old San Leandro man is reported in "guarded" condition after being shot in the stomach and right knee early Monday in an apparently unprovoked attack, police said

Nicholas J. Zilimbo was taken to surgery at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, after being shot with a .22-caliber magnum pistol at about 2:30 a.m.

Police arrested Richard Howard Black, 43, of 2470 Toyon Dr., San Bruno, for attempted murder in the incident, which occurred at Sambo's Restaurant parking lot, 2010 Rollingwood Dr., San Bruno.

According to police, who are still piecing the incident together, a vehicle driven by Zilimbo, with passenger Kenneth Ellis, 36, of Half Moon Bay, was followed by Black to the restaurant.

Police said that after Zilimbo stopped at Sambo's he walked over to Black's vehicle to ask why Black was following, while Ellis had headed toward the door of the restaurant.

According to police, at this time Black allegedly shot Zilimbo in the abdomen and right knee and then fled the scene.

Various witnesses at the scene gave police a description of the vehicle and a broadcast resulted in Black being arrested by Pacifica policeman Tom Hauser in the vicinity of El Camino Real and Camino Plaza, San Bruno, after a chase from Skyline Boulevard, police said.

Driver Charged After Accident

A felony drunk driving charge was lodged by South San Francisco police against a San Bruno resident Sunday morning.

Arrested after an accident, in which police said he allegedly ran a redlight and broadsided a Daly City motorist's vehicle, was George F. Laine Jr., 46, 3951 Colby Way, San Bruno.

Skyline to Again Give Design Tips

Skyline College is repeating its popular six-week Interior Design course beginning Thursday, September 21, at 7:30 p.m. in room 310, Building 7 on the Campus, according to Tom Fraley, Skyline's Community Services Assistant.

The enrollment fee for the series is $6, and one unit of college credit is available.

"Because this course was sold out early last semester, interested persons should sign up as soon as possible," Fraley advised. Application blanks will be available soon. The brochure will be distributed on campus and through local libraries throughout north San Mateo County. Interested persons may also enroll in person at the theater box office on campus between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

"We have again obtained the services of James Stevens, Interior Designer and CSM Instructor," Faley explained.

Park Use Not Causing Water Shortage

The water shortage on the San Mateo County coastside, particularly in the Pescadero area, has become acute, county officials admit, but use of county parks has been only a minor contributing factor.

In a report to the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, County Manager M. D. Tarshes states that the "general (water) problem will probably continue and may worsen in the next two months."

He submits stream flow reports for Pescadero, Butano and San Gregorio creeks showing that flow is tremendously under last year. The problem has become acute, Tarshes says, because of the very low rainfall last winter.

Replying to contentions expressed in complaints to the State Water Rights Board and to county officials by coastside residents that water used by various YMCA and church camps and County Memorial Park, Tarshes reports that during the month of July, the county usage of water at Memorial Park, including evaporation loss, represented less than 3½ per cent of the flow in Pescadero Creek.

Tarshes reported that the flow-through swimming pool at the park has about 1,550,000 gallons of water stored. This normally is released downstream over a period of several days beginning about the end of September.

However, County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr. has ordered the release to begin today, making the water available to downstream users and for percolation underground.

County Public Health Engineer Henry Eich echoes Tarshes in that the extent of the water shortage problem until the start of the rainy season cannot be accurately predicted.

He notes, however, that the water supply for the Pescadero area of some 300 persons is derived from shallow individual wells and is limited in quantity and hazardous in bacteriological quality, and "must be evaluated as unreliable and hazardous."

Both he and Tarshes indicate that the area residents must be willing to participate financially in creating a public water supply to serve the area and solve what Tarshes says this year is only an accentuation of a situation that has existed for a long time.

The county manager notes that the county has little, if any, authority to resolve the water service problem because such authority is fragmented among the numerous public and private water service agencies serving the county. However, the county can coordinate problem-solving efforts to assist communities in developing solutions, he says.

He recommends that the county offer to explore possible solutions with coastside residents, but warns that it will require a "readiness on the part (of residents) to accept the major "financing plans and maintenance" of improvements.

BART Due to Begin Carrying Paying Customers on September 11

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) begins carrying paying passengers Sept. 11 to initiate the first mass transit system built in the nation since 1907.

Critics say it is behind the times, obsolescent before completion.

BART's aim was to take an urban population off the highways, put it back on rails not only to eliminate traffic congestion and smog but restore central city trade areas now dispersing to the suburbs. Many of the aims will be met. There has been a terrific upsurge of new building along BART's limited facilities.

BART, still under construction, has cost an estimated $1.4 billion and may cost more before the system is completed. It includes 75 miles of underground, ground level and aerial track, 34 stations scattered among 14 communities of three counties in the Bay Area. Nearly all stations are complete, but on inaugural day, passengers will be able to ride only between Fremont, on the south East Bay, to Oakland.

There is no doubt that BART is an engineering triumph over many physical, political and sociological problems. Its pluses include:

—The first completely automated rail system in the world, including the Trans-Bay tube, the longest submerged passenger carrying structure ever built.

— Its 70-foot, 72-passenger cars are the first true spin-off from aerospace technology for surface development. BART will be the first U.S. transit cars to carry passengers at 80 miles per hour with more comfort and luxury than private automobiles.

—The world's first automatic fare collection system, the result of lengthy study of the world's subways, including London, Moscow and New York. BART's long commuter distances make a single fare impractical—with a graduated fare system, "automated" turnstiles were developed. Passengers will buy a ticket for one or more rides from vending machines at each station. The credit-sized cards will be magnetically imprinted with the exact cash value from a minimum ride of 30 cents to a multiple ride ticket of $20. The tickets will be inserted into computers at the turnstiles.

—The world's first automated sign designation system to announce the destinations of BART trains before they arrive and while they are in the station.

"BART represents a pioneering step because it will be the first public transit system ever designed to compete in attractiveness with the private automobile," said General Manager B.R. Stokes. "Paradoxically, the automobile has become the greatest obstacle in this modern urban age—replacing the mountains and the deserts of a century ago."

Stokes said BART will produce the least expensive solution to our peak hour congestion problem. Economists have estimated the Bay Area would have to spend as much to build enough extra automobile facilities to cope with just short range future traffic growth."

BART's completed system, when operated fully with 250 cars, will carry an estimated peak load of 28,800 persons per hour per track with 105 trains operating simultaneously.

Despite the optimism and the engineering achievement, it remains unclear whether BART will significantly reduce traffic congestion and air pollution in the Bay Area as it is hoped. This is because of the building boom that has paralleled the BART construction.

The seating capacity of peak passengers per hour is estimated by experts to be only about 10 per cent of current commuters in cars. The continuing growth of San Francisco and Oakland, promoted by BART itself, will be a contributing factor in creating new jobs.

BART claims that the competitive edge over the automobile is so large that even if drivers only calculate their costs for gas, oil, tolls and other expenses — excluding depreciation and insurance — BART still is cheaper.

The effort of building BART has been a strain on all areas. Most of the beefs have come from the busiest downtown sections of San Francisco and Oakland. There commuters for the past 10 years have put up with excavation after excacation due to an uncoordinated method of moving utilities. The holes and the dirt have been compared with bomb devastation.

San Francisco will not have the benefit of BART until 1973, if all goes well. Almost all underground stations are nearing completion and streets gradually are being repaved at present.

Burning Matchbook Causes Bomb Scare

A box of souvenir matches burst into flame inside a suitcase being loaded aboard American Airlines flight 220 to Chicago at San Francisco International Airport Monday—setting off the airport's latest bomb scare.

A smoking baggage pod was removed from the belly of the big 747 and trundled to the bayside edge of the field to be examined.

While San Mateo County Sheriff's deputies examined the luggage holder, American Airlines kept its loaded plane at the dock.

Captain Ted Sorenson determined to wait until they found the cause of the smoke, and whose luggage it was in, before taking off.

A tight ring of security was clamped around the airfield, as airport officials wondered whether this was an attempt to close the area to President Nixon's noontime arrival.

On board the airliner, 163 passengers waited.

Airline crews stood by, prepared to remove all baggage pods from the plane if the smoking luggage proved to be a bomb.

Out on the bayside end of Runway One-right, Sheriff's deputies opened the pod, found the bag in question and opened it.

Inside, they found the charred remains of a box of matches, and some damaged personal belongings. No bomb.

With relief, Flight 220 was rescheduled for take-off at 9:15.

Airline officials commented that the offending matches were paperbacks someone had purchased as a souvenir of San Francisco.

'We warn them not to do that," said one airline spokesman, "but they do it anyway."

Rape Charge In San Bruno

Two San Brunans were charged with the rape in their apartment of a 33-year-old airline ticket agent early Sunday.

The authorities said Toni Miu, 29, and Bill Pahulu, both of 341 San Bruno Avenue, were in custody.

According to police, the victim was joined by two men, who were reportedly the friends of the woman's former boy friend, at a party in San Mateo earlier in the evening.

She accompanied them to San Bruno, where she was allegedly raped by both men, police said.

Owner Sues Millbrae

Millbrae property owner Robert L. McGovern has filed suit in Superior Court in Redwood City seeking to force the Millbrae Planning Commission and the City Council to grant him a rezoning so he can build a 24-unit apartment complex

In the complaint, McGovern states that the planning commission refused at its June 12 meeting to rezone the 37,000-square-foot site, bounded by Junipero Serra Freeway easments near Trousdale Boulevard and Vallejo Drive, from R-2 (duplex) to RG (apartment) classification. The council upheld the commission at its July 25 meeting.

It is charged by McGovern that the decision is invalid is not supported by the findings and that the findings are not supported by the evidence. His property the plaintiff indicates, is adjacent to apartment developments and apartment development would be compatible with the area.

The suit asks the court to mandate the planning commission and council to set aside the decision and to order the city to grant the rezoning.

A Singles Club for Grads

By AL QUALE

"GRADS" is a 75-member club for single college graduates living on the Peninsula. "It is not merely another single's club, but a better way to meet people," according to Joseph Allin, club promoter and publicity man.

Allin and others hit on the idea of forming a club exclusively for single college graduates one year ago because as he says, "people are more apt to be compatible by virtue of their education."

"To put it bluntly, the reason we got it started was because many of us felt more comfortable with people with whom we could carry on a decent conversation."

Members do not join GRADS "just to exchange bodies," Allin added.

"We're not what you might call a heavy drinking or cocktail type crowd either," he continued. "We would rather do things which we can participate in and get enjoyment out of."

A typical cross-section of GRADS' events is demonstrated by the club's activity calendar for this month:

August 4, overnight camp out; August 11, a Friday evening discussion on interpersonal relationships; August 20, a swim party and spaghetti supper at a member's home; and August 26, beach party and cookout.

GRADS' activities are somewhat unique from those of the other 20 single's clubs on the Peninsula, but GRAD members wouldn't have it any other way, according to Allin.

He claims that activities in the other, more commercial singles clubs, "amounts to a superficial way of meeting people—everything is based on how a gal looks to you."

But in GRADS, the club provides a better way to meet a person where they can get acquainted on an "intellectual level," he said.

To emphasize the noncommercial nature of the club, new members are charged only $2.50 to join. "And that pays for their subscription to the club's monthly newsletter," Allin said.

In order to join, the applicant must be single, a college graduate (four year degrees only), and in the age group 25 to 45-years-old. The club is headquartered in San Carlos, Post Office Box 1211.

"These are very difficult times, meeting anyone that is compatible," according to Allin. "One of the things that is particularly wrong with the usual dating type situation is that people meet each other on a one to one basis."

"They have marriage on their mind — that's the objective of it and they don't develop their own personality. In the dating situation they always try to put their best across, but if it were less formal they could get across their own personalities. This I think is a more realistic type situation."

What's the biggest problem facing GRADS?

"We don't seem to be able to attract enough men at this point," said Allin, a chemical engineer who lives in Redwood City. "We have more women than men in GRADS."

U Turn Near Police Station Is Costly

A U-turn over the double yellow line on Delaware near Nineteenth Avenue nearly in front of the police station on Monday landed two young men in jail on a variety of charges, San Mateo police report.

When a police officer stopped the pair, a routine check, police said, showed that:

1. The driver's license was expired.
2. The vehicle registration was not in the car.
3. The license plate on the rear of the car had been issued for a Dodge, but the car was a Ford.
4. There was a quarter-full half-pint bottle of rum lying on the front seat.
5. A plastic bag in the glove compartment appeared to contain marijuana.
6. The driver of the car had several outstanding traffic warrants.
7. The passenger had an outstanding warrant, for a vehicle code violation.
8. Small plastic bags containing a green substance resembling marijuana were found in a search on each of the pair.

Police arrested Randy Len Soo Hoo, 22, of 1616 Ark, San Mateo, the driver, and Ronald Brit Schroeder, 20, of 1045 Fiesta, San Mateo on charges of possession of marijuana.

Police reported they also charged Soo Hoo with displaying a license plate not issued for the vehicle; failure to have registration with the vehicle; driving with an expired driver's license; and having an open container in the vehicle. Shroeder was also charged with possession of an alcoholic beverage by a minor.

TLC Chain President Found Dead

The body of Gary S. Nachmann, 44, of 460 Remillard Drive, Hillsborough, the former vice president of Lyons Restaurants and now president of the TLC restaurant chain, was found by a maid at the Howard Johnson motel at Whipple Avenue and the Bayshore Freeway in Redwood City on Tuesday morning.

Coroner's officials and Redwood City police reported death was apparently due to an overdose of sleeping tablts. They said he apparently took his own life due to financial reverses.

His wife reported Nachmann missing to Hillsborough police on Monday afternoon and said she feared he may have had suicidal tendencies because of the financial reverses.

After resigning from the Lyons chain, Nachman opened the Tender, Loving Care chain of restaurants.

When his body was discovered by a maid at the Redwood City motel on Tuesday, the labels had been ripped off two pill containers and two credit cards had been cut in half. Nachmann had meticulously folded his clothing over chairs, Officer Ray Beavers reported.

Nachmann had checked in on Monday morning at 2 a.m., and had left his key with the desk. He returned about 6 a.m.

Pacifica Man Charged

A 36-year-old Pacifican was jailed by South San Francisco police Tuesday on an assault with a deadly weapon charge.

The police said the charges stemmed from an altercation at the Ladle Club, 309 Airport Boulevard, in which Wesley M. Smith of 560 Inverness, Pacifica, allegedly struck Donald C. Gilfert, 33, of 228 Sixth Lane, South San Francisco, with his fists and stomped on him with his boots. Smith was charged.

Gilfert was treated for facial and elbow lacerations at Mary's Help Hospital.

Builder Files Suit In Millbrae Dispute

Investor Joseph Karp Friday filed a suit against the City of Millbrae for refusing to allow him to build an apartment house on land zoned for apartment use.

Joining Karp in the suit is the United Artists Theater Circuit, owner of the Millbrae Theater, which owns the property Karp chose as an apartment site.

Karp is represented by Attorney Joseph Geller of Millbrae, and the theater interests by the Burlingame legal firm of Carr, McClellan, Ingersoll, Thompson & Horn.

The suit is based on city refusal to allow Karp to build a group of condominium apartments on land owned by the Millbrae Theater and used as a parking lot.

During public discussions this spring, city officials made it clear they would reject the plan, if they could legally do so, because construction of the apartments would eliminate the theater's parking.

The theater existed before Millbrae became a city, was not built under city zoning rules, and does not have as much parking as the city would now require. Because of this, it is a "non-conforming use," the city claims.

City Attorney Frank Gillio advised city councilmen and planning commissioners that to approve the apartments would be to increase the degree of nonconformity of the theater.

He said the city could not legally act in such a manner.

Filed in Superior Court in Redwood City, the suit is a "complaint for declaratory relief," and asks that a judge declare:

—That Karp can develop the apartment-zoned property for apartments;

—That the theater can develop another portion of the parking lot which is zoned for commercial uses, into sites for business enterprises;

—That there is no off-street parking requirement for the theater;

—That the use of the Millbrae Theater property as a theatre site is not "non-conforming."

CSM Offers Teacher Aide Night Course

"Elementary and secondary schools are turning more and more to teacher assistants," a College of San Mateo educational administrator noted today, in announcing that CSM again will offer an evening course to help prepare adults for employment in this field.

"The number of teacher assistants employed in our area increases year by year," said Marvin Alexander, chairman of the college's social science division. "We've had people hired just on the basis of taking this one semester of instruction."

The course, "The Teacher Assistant," will be taught by Emanuele Damonte, principal of Los Cerritos School in the South San Francisco Unified District. Class sessions will be held once a week on the CSM campus, Tuesdays from 7-10 p.m., beginning Sept. 12.

High school graduation is not required for enrollment.

Adults may register in advance any evening, Monday through Thursday, Aug. 28-31, at the college. Persons 21 years of age or older pay a $10 registration fee.

Further details may be obtained by calling the CSM information center.

Religious School Curriculum Set At Beth-Israel

Gerhard Lowenthal, principal of the Beth Israel - Judea Religious School, announced a new curriculum for the seventh and eighth grades.

Students will be offered a series of mini-courses including: the Joy of Yiddish, Branches of Judaism, Prejudice in our Day, Study of Talmud Tales, the Prayerbook and Shabbat Services.

Each grade will be offered three of the above listed subjects and the students will have the advantage of being divided into groups of ten to study each course for a period of 10 weeks.

Religious School will have its opening session on September 17 at A. P. Giannini Jr. High School in San Francisco.

The Best Israel-Judea Hebrew School, under the principalship of Itzhak Emanuel, will initiate a new program this year especially created for the eight-year-old student.

The class entitled "Mechinah" will be conducted twice weekly on Monday and Wednesday afternoons from 3:45 to 5 p.m. Conversational Hebrew, related Arts and Crafts and Israeli songs will comprise the curriculum for this class.

High Holy Days Services at Congregation B'nai Israel

Congregation B'nai Israel will hold High Holy Days Services beginning with Rosh Hashanah on Friday at 8 p.m. and continuing on Saturday morning beginning at 8:30.

The Second Day of Rosh Hashanah will be observed beginning at 8 p.m. on Saturday and ending on Sunday with services starting at 8:30 a.m.

Rosh Hashanah ushers in the year 5733 for the Jewish People; the year is measured from the Creation of the world, according to the Bible. The basic Judaiac concept is that the destiny of every living thing for the year ahead is determined by God on the Eve of Rosh Hashanah and decreed or sealed at the end of the Ten Days of Penitence, Yom Kippuer — the Day of Atonement.

Yom Kippur begins on September 17. This belief deals only with the "major" destinies, such as life or death; the individual has control over and responsibility for his own actions in every-day living and matters. White vestments are worn by the clergy and adorn the Scrolls of the Law. This is also the only period of time during which those of the Jewish faith kneel and then only by the clergy.

The High Holy Days are also called the Days of Awe. By prayer, repentance and righteousness, the individual is believed to be given the opportunity of aperting a sepere decree. Parts of the liturgy and ritual have been unchanged for 2600 years.

Rabbi Sheldon Edwards and Cantor Henry Greenberg, assisted by Keva Katznelson and member of the Religious Practices Committee, will conduct the High Holy Days services.

"Because the basic concepts of the Service are unchanged through the years, they present a valid thesis that faith is contemporary and not out-dated," Rabbi Edwards continued.

One of the major prayers, during which the Canton approaches the Altar from the rear of the Sanctuary, is perhaps one of the greatest exercises in humility — in poetry or prose — existent in any language.

During the recitation of the prayer, the Cantor asks God to overlook his own failings and accept him as a messenger of the congregation. Even though his is resplendent in his white robes, he asks God to consider him as a penetant approaching the Altar in sackcloth and ashes.

Another portion of the service is the sounding of the Shofar — a ram's horn which is dried and prepared in accordance with rules also better than 3500 years old. It is used to remind us of the experience that Abraham had when, reluctantly, he was prepared to sacrifice his son Isaac, not realized that God was testing his faith in Him. The ram replaced Isaac and therefore, the ram's horn is the recognized religious instrument of Judaism. The Shofar will be blown by Mark Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Benson of Daly City.

Scouts Plan School Night

"Our fundamental goal is to make the adventures and advantages of Scouting available to every boy in our council area," said Al Schwarzbach, organization and extension chairman for the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America, in explaining School Night to Join Scouting, scheduled this year for September 28.

Backed by his appointment of Dr. J. Russell Kent as county chairman, an eight-member steering committee and six-member planning committee, as well as six district chairmen, Schwarzbach outlined the one-night program.

More than 2000 boys were recruited last year in a program which opened nearly every elementary school in the county to a scouting program. The current plan is for a series of sessions to exceed even last year's.

"The continued enthusiastic support of School Night to join scouting will guarantee the continued growth of the largest character-building youth agency in the world," Schwarzbach said.

From a scouting family (his mother was a scout in Chicago) and involving his own family in scouting (daughters Leslie and Karen are girl scouts, wife Denise is Daly City's director of organizers), Schwarzbach is employed by Crocker Bank in the bank properties division. He is a member of Congregation B'nai Israel.

San Brunan Nabbed For Rape Attempt

A San Bruno man was charged with attempted rape and burglary last week after being arrested near a Burlingame apartment house to which neighbors had called police when they heard a girl screaming.

The accused was identified as Eric D. Willy, 24, a 6-foot, 4-inch, 240-pound man from 2335 Valleywood Drive, San Bruno.

Police say he was arrested at 8 o'clock last night near an apartment building behind Peninsula Hospital.

A 26-year-old secretary told police she had come home from work, with packages of groceries in her arms, and encountered an unknown man at the mailbox area.

She thought he moved away, she said, but when she had opened her apartment door and stepped inside, she found him behind her.

He asked to use the telephone, she said, and then said: "I'm coming in."

The victim said she was beaten by the man, who tore her clothes off.

He was interrupted in his efforts when the doorbell rang and officer Randy Stults announced: "This is the Burlingame police."

Although the man told her not to respond, the victim wrapped a towel around herself and went to answer the door.

Instead of merely opening the door, she rushed through it into Officer Stult's arms.

"He's in there, he's in there," she kept repeating hysterically.

Stults said he heard noises inside the apartment as though someone were going out a window.

Outside, Inspector Wayne South arrived in time to see a figure jump over a nearby fence. Minutes later, South arrested Willy.

Bruno Thief Gets Prison

Bruce M. Pyhtile, 29, last week pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery in the Redwood City Superior Court of Judge Robert D. Miller and was immediately sentenced to state prison.

Pyhtile, a Michigan prison escapee, was arrested last May after his auto crashed into a San Bruno police car as he was fleeing the scene of a liquor store holdup.

Manslaughter in D.C. Death

A jury of eight women and four men last week found Mary C. Shupe guilty of involuntary manslaughter in the shooting death of Arthur Chapman, 43, of San Francisco, last Thanksgiving Day.

The defendant fired a shot at the victim near a Broadmoor bar after telling him to pack his belongings and get out of her apartment, according to the evidence. Chapman later collapsed and died of the wound.

Trial began Monday in the Redwood City Superior Court of Judge Gerald E. Ragan with jury deliberations beginning yesterday morning.

Judge Ragan set October 3 at 9 a.m. as time for probation report and sentencing. The defendant is currently free on her own recognizance.

Coast Crash Victim Dies

A 59-year-old Pacifican was dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, Wednesday after the car he was driving slammed into a light standard on Cabrillo Highway.

According to Pacifica police, John Cullen, of 1675 Toledo Ct., was northbound when the vehicle struck the light standard at the Reina Del Mar intersection at about 1 a.m.

An autopsy was scheduled.

Pet Keeps Rescuers From Injured Boy

An 11-year-old Pacifica youth is reported in satisfactory condition Friday after getting struck above the left eye yesterday with a golf ball at Sharp Park Golf Course in Pacifica.

According to Pacifica's rescuing firemen, Frank Arellano of 125 Santa Rosa Ave., was looking for golf balls in rough about 10-feet off the 14th fairway.

Officials said young Arellano was struck by a ball golfer John Lircari, of 80 Risel St., Daly City, had just hit off the tee, firemen said.

The incident occurred at about 1 p.m. Firemen said they witnessed true devotion of a dog for his master, when they were briefly held at bay by a black labrador belonging to the youth as they tried to assist the boy.

According to firemen, the eye was swollen.

"It looked like a marble was behind the eyelid," said one fireman.

The youth remained conscious, officials said.

As for the dog, firemen said, "as long as we kept talking to him and calming him down we were all right."

S.F. Airport To Use X-ray

Packages suspected of containing bombs soon will be subjected to X-ray examination at San Francisco International Airport.

There also is the possibility that one of the sheriff's office K-9 units will be trained in bomb searching procedures, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors learned yesterday.

Acting on recommendation of County Manager M. D. Tarshes, the board approved an application to the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration for a grant to purchase the $5000 portable X-ray machine which will operate with polaroid film.

Sheriff's Capt. Herbert G El vander reported that the action is a "reverse grant application" in that the Federal Aviation Agency requested the sheriff's office to seek the funds because it responds to bomb threats at the airport.

San Francisco is one of several selected airports throughout the country for which the FAA is having law enforcement agencies apply for X-ray grants from the LEAA, also a federal agency.

Elvander said that present bomb search procedure at the airport is to have passengers aboard a plane which has been subjected to a bomb threat step off the plane and stand next to their luggage while it is searched.

"The theory is that we assume a person who has packed a bomb will not want to be standing next to his bag when it is opened and be blown up," Elvander stated.

"But maybe," he added, "his mother-in-law packed it."

Also being considered, Elvander said, is the training of a dog and his handler at a special school at Lackland Air Force Base for bomb search. The dog would be trained to sniff out a suspicious bag, and the piece of luggage would then be X-rayed

Mussel Rock Contract OK

A new contract between the Coastside Scavenger Company and Daly City Scavenger Company permitting dumping at Mussel Rock has been approved by the Daly City Council. The new contract calls for increased rates over a four-year period.

Court Orders Service Work By Genovese

Dr. Gregory W. Genovese, Daly City dentist, Friday was placed on two years' probation and ordered to contribute 800 hours of community service work after pleading no-contest in Northern District Municipal Court to a charge of misdemeanor vehicular manslaughter in the traffic death of a young Millbrae woman nearly a year ago.

Genovese, 37, is a resident of Atherton.

The defendant originally was charged with felony manslaughter after the death fo Karen Lee Peterman, 20, of Millbrae, following a traffic accident September 22, 1971, on Junipero Serra Freeway in South San Francisco.

However, the felony charge was dismissed last May by Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley on the basis that a blood sample taken from the injured defendant constituted illegal search and seizure.

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson said it was decided that it would be a "wise approach to take" to accept the no-contest plea to a lesser charge in view of the dismissal of the felony count.

In imposing sentence, Municipal Court Judge Jose DeLarios said that the community service work shall be done under the direction of the probation department. He also ordered that Genovese agree to chemical testing for drug usage and to peremptory search and seizure by law enforcement officials

New Faces in Millbrae Dist.

When Millbrae schools open September 6, there will be several new faces to greet the students.

Spring Valley pupils will have a new principal, Leonard Sarkon, who formerly was vice principal in San Carlos.

Also on deck to greet the students will be Mrs. Lynn Astengo and Mrs. Ruth Rogers, who has been re-classified to work in the library or teach.

Millbrae students will get re-acquainted with Mrs. Peggy Rhoads, librarian, who formerly worked at the school.

Other new Millbrae teachers will be Miss Eileen Babich, a former student teacher.

Mrs. Cynthia Quartron will also be on the Millbrae School faculty.

Gordon Day, an intern psychologist, will work with the other school psychologists headquartered at Meadows School.

Miss Jayne Kestler will assist in music instruction.

Green Hills will welcome Mrs. Loretta Marshall as well as Mrs. Patsy Pattison.

Miss Bernice Helmkamp, Steven Sodman and Mrs. Marian Papay have been added to the staff at Taylor School.

Restraining Order Made in Bruno Case

Presiding Judge Melvin E. Cohn of the Superior Court of San Mateo County has issued an order temporarily restraining the City of San Bruno and San Bruno Auto Center from continuing to condition the release of a car upon payment of storage fees.

A lawsuit filed by the Legal Aid Society of San Mateo County on behalf of William Beaver states that he was arrested for a violation of the Vehicle Code and his car was impounded. More than 100 days later the charges against Beaver were dismissed, but the defendants refused to release his car unless he paid storage fees of almost $350, according to the suit. The plaintiff was unable to pay the storage fees and so sought a temporary restraining order to get the car back without payment of fees and to prevent storage fees from rising any further.

The memorandum supporting Beaver's complaint states:

"It is a case of adding not only insult to injury, but of piling injury upon injury."

Beaver was arrested last April 21 when a San Bruno police officer suspected his vehicle contained an altered engine number. His car was taken to the San Bruno Auto Center. The vehicle was a 1963 model that had been hand-built by the plaintiff for racing purposes only. Because the vehicle was built solely for racing and because the racing season ends in October, Beaver claimed he was daily losing potential prize money.

Broadmoor Chief Ill

Broadmoor police chief Raymond Savage was in satisfactory condition today in the coronary care unit of Kaiser Hospital, South San Francisco.

Savage was taken to Kaiser Friday by Mercy Ambulance suffering from a heart attack. The 63-year-old chief was expected to remain in the hospital for the next three weeks.

Square Dance Hoedown at Serramonte

"Swing your partner" will be a familiar call throughout Serramonte Center, September 9 when 14 square dance clubs perform from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The 3500 members of San Francisco's square dance clubs have been invited to Serramonte's open house. The clubs' sponsors will be honored during a special ceremony at 11 a.m. Mayors from each city will present a plaque to the sponsors of each club.

Participating clubs are:

The Daly City Kalico Kats, sponsored by the Park and Recreation Department, who dance every Friday night at public schools.

The Colma Western Twirlers, who dance every Thursday night in public schools.

The Millbrae Gingham Squares, sponsored by the Park and Recreation Department, who dance every Tuesday night at the Millbrae Recreation Center from 8 to 10:30.

The Pacifica "Pacifica Squares," who dance every Monday night in public schools.

The San Bruno Pairs 'n Spares, sponsored by the Park and Recreation Department, who dance every Tuesday night at Parkside School. The Pairs 'n Spares have just celebrated their fourteenth anniversary.

Caller Howard Hillyer, and his wife, Jerry, started this group of less than two dozen in the old Boy Scout Hall in San Bruno.

As the club grew they were sponsored by the San Bruno Park and Recreation Department and moved to Parkside School. The club now boasts more than 100 members.

The South San Francisco Whirl-a-Ways, sponsored by the Park and Recreation Department, who dance every Wednesday night at Siebecker Hall, Elm Court, and Tamarack Lane from 8:30 to 10:30.

The South San Francisco Forty-Niners, sponsored by the Park and Recreation Department, who dance every Thursday night from 8 to 10:30 at Siebecker Hall.

The Forty-Niners Square Dance Club is the oldest established club in the Bay Area. Organized in 1948 in South San Francisco and chartered in 1949, they called themselves the '49ers since they were 49 members strong and formed in '49.

In 1958 a new ruling disqualified square dance clubs from the adult education program, and the South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department agreed to sponsor this club.

For more than 10 years the '49ers have been dancing at Siebecker Recreation Hall with Bachelor and Bachelorettes, a square dance club for single people. They dance every Friday evening at Lakeshore School, San Francisco.

Caper Cutters, the largest square dance club in San Francisco (over 100 members), who dance every Monday night at Mark Twain School.

Cloverleafs, who dance at Mark Twain School on Friday evening from 8 to 10:30.

Square Cutters, who dance at Lakeshore School every Thursday evening from 8 to 10:30.

San Francisco Rebels, who dance at Robert L. Stevenson School every Wednesday from 8 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Pony Wheels, who dance at Presbyterian Church Barn, 33 San Juan, on esdays from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Round dancing featured from 7:30 to 8 p.m.

Krazy Eights, the only teenage club in San Francisco, but at present their future looks shaky. They have just lost their caller of eight years, and are in danger of losing their meeting place.

None of the San Francisco clubs are sponsored by the Park and Recreation Department. They dance at San Francisco public schools. Use of these school facilities is granted under the Civic Center Act. The Krazy Eights and the Pony Wheels dance at church recreation halls.

These clubs will dance 10 minutes out of every hour at Serramonte Center September 9, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is no charge and the public is invited to attend.

D.C. Girl Scout Units Served '72 Day Camp

Two Brownie and three Junior units as well as one Cadette unit were recently staffed by local adults and Seniors to serve the almost 100 girls who attended the 1972 edition of the Daly City Girl Scout Day Camp.

The camp theme of "America the Beautiful" was brought into the units as girls learned the out-of-door and art handicraft skills common to the various sections of their nation.

Easterners, wearing the green scarves, included Colleen Bernie, Danielle Bianchi, Jacqueline Garde, Lori Martin, Charistie Patackas, Perri Stelling, Denise Unger, Tammy Yee, and were led by Mses. Joan Hidzick and Sue Scaduto.

The second Brownie unit, the Southern Creoles, who dyed their scarves bright red, were Corinne Clawson, Jody Denys, Diane Donnelly, Donielle Goodsell, Tereasa Gorrebeeck, Laurelyn Jeppson, Kelly Lewis, Jeanne Oliver, Tammy Pappas and Karen Schroeter with leaders Mesdames Denise Schwarzbach, Willa Van Aken and Mary Hart.

The girls who celebrated Thanksgiving the evening of the overnight were the New England Colonists, otherwise known as "Purple Pilgrims" and included Eileen Conlan, Theresa Doran, Dayna Figone, Karen Foley, Heather Hart, Kimberley Klatt, Leesa Lew, Diane McGowan, Lisa O'Balle, Jaime Tafralis, Marie Taylor and Vickie Tschirgi, with three Senior Scouts as unit leaders, Mses. Helen Edelheit, Jane Hidzick and Nancy Luders.

The second Junior unit of Denise Bagnoli, Francine Jacobs, Lisa La Fargue, Linea Leberg, Celina Mann, Celie Reyes, Donna Sabbatani, Lori Schech and Sharon Von Aken were Mid-Western Pioneers with a blue banner. They were led by Mesdames Ginny McGowan, Norene Thurman and Julie Wilson.

Southwestern Rancheros, in orange scarves, led by Mesdames Carole Ann Scott, Virginia Rusting and Shirley Figone, included Jackie Bender, Doreen Brignoli, Karen Dale, Shelly Nicholson, Kellie Patackas, Darlene Rusting, Renee Sans, Karen Schwarzbach, Sharon Scott, Denise Strawn, Marguerite Taylor, Arnette Terry and Michelle Tschirgi.

The Cadette unit, the Western 49ers in gold, were Monica Berning, Seona Connolly, Janet and Joann Denys, Esther Espina, Marie Estrella, Marian Fitzpatrick, Carolyn Hahn, Sheri Mordokowicz, Deborah Penny, Diane Ridge, Valerie Rivas and Michelle Scott. The unit was led by Mesdames Norma Young, Nancy Dahlberg and Joan Denys.

The Pixies represented a salute to Disneyland and were led by Mesdames Roz Morino and Mary Tschirgi and included Anthony Klatt, Stacey McGowan, Lorelei Morino, David Schwarzbach, Yvette Scott, Timmy Thurman, Donna Van Aken, Joseph and Michael Rusting and Lisa Huff.

The training program included Cadette and Senior aides serving in adult capacities. The troop is advised by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Damon (Margaret) who are exerienced sailors as well as experienced adult Scouts.

Court to Meet On Thursday

Court St. Mary No. 1155, Catholic Daughters of America, will meet Thursday, at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Hall, 80 Wellington Avenue, Daly City, under the leadership of Mrs. George Day, regent for her second term. Along with Mrs. Day, the Court Officers for 1972-1973 are: Mesdames Antonio Orbest — first Vice Regent; Edward Nolan— second Vice Regent; Jesse Pagan — Monitor — William Cuevas — Treasurer; Edward Paz — Financial Secretary; Miss Erlinda Rael — Recording Secretary; Mesdames Peter Tolovi — Lecturer; John Wagner — Organist; Pol Neomuceno, Teresa Raneses and Miss Eloise Sauer — Trustees.

Among the topics to be discussed will be the forthcoming 42nd Court Birthday Dinner to be held at the Skyliner Restaurant in Daly City on September 27. Theme of the celebration will be "Getting To Know You" in honor of the 90 new members received into the court last year.

Court St. Mary No. 1155 is also initiating an appeal from the flood victims in the Philippines. Regent Mrs. George Day recently returned from the Philippines after a 15-year absence and her entire vacation was spent trapped in his sister's house while the rains continued for a month and everything around her was flooded to the waist.

She said food at that time was a priceless commodity with a can of corned beef being stretched to last two days. Needless to say, the outlying provinces more severely hit by the typhoon fared worst in the worst major disaster to hit the Philippines in decades. Coordinating this public appeal is the Northern San Mateo County Filipino Organization and Gather Fred Bitanga, associate pastor of St. Patrick's Church in San Francisco.

Monetary donations, clothes and-or food may be sent to Mrs. George Day, 707 Niantic Avenue Daly City, (755-3780); Mrs. Thomas Baldwin, 41 Muirwood Drive, Daly City (755-7716); the Rev. Fred Bitanga, St. Patrick's Church, San Francisco.

Court St. Mary No. 1155 also has announced the appointment of one of its members. Mrs. Thomas Baldwin as district deputy by State Regent Mrs. James Miraglia.

Mrs. Baldwin will have supervision of Courts Golden Gate No. 913, Salesian No. 1005 and Our Lady of Beautiful Love No. 2030, all in San Francisco.

Interior Design Course at SC Being Repeated

Skyline College is repeating its popular six-week Interior Design course beginning September 21, at 7:30 p.m. in room 310, Building 7 on the Campus, according to Tom Fraley, Skyline's Community Services assistant.

The enrollment fee for the series is $6 and one unit of college credit is available.

"Because this course was sold out early last semester, interested persons should sign up as soon as possible," Fraley advised. Application blanks will be available soon. The brochure will be distributed on campus and through local libraries throughout north San Mateo County. Interested persons may also enroll in person at the theater box office on campus between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

"We have again obtained the services of James Stevens, interior designer and CSM instructor," Fraley explained. "Mr. Stevens will show you how to best use what you already have and how to buy what you need at reasonable prices. Further he will discuss the use of accessories, and how to 'get it all together' into interiors that are well-designed and which reflect your own personal life-style."

What is the worst day of vacation?

Why, it's the very last day out! The day when the cabin must be cleaned and all the dirty clothes collected and washed. It's the day when all the games must be reassembled and the fishing poles disassembled.

On the last day the placing of the left over pancakes beneath the ground squirrel's favorite gnarly old root takes on special significance — from here on in, frisky little pal, you are on your own — no more handouts!

There is the usual discussion of where best to place the big block of Salt for the resident deer herd and, following careful consideration of all the acceptable sites, the situating of the salt on the same table at the edge of the meadow upon which we have placed the block for years and years.

We perform the annual rites for the birds, melting down the accumulated bacon fat and dipping the douglas fir cones in it and then hanging the enriched cones in the trees near the spring.

THE LAST DAY is always one of frantic activities, doleful faces and occasional tears. It's the day when the final meal at the cabin is a harem scarem affair consisting of everything left in the refrigerator that won't travel well enough to make the journey back to the city.

That last wild day is the day on which I find myself writing this column. Farewell summer, we are on our way home to sheets and electric blankets, to school bus schedules, work and routine.

FOR THOSE ERRANT members of the Westlake Senior Citizens Club, while you have been away the meeting place has been changed and Mrs. Frank Specht wants to remind everyone that the new meeting room is the auditorium of the Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church, right next door to the old meeting place in the Westlake Community Baptist Church.

Do you have an old musical instrument stored away in a closet gathering dust?

Ted Kelley, the Friends Outside worker inside the San Bruno facility, reports that there is hope of building an inmate band if enough usable instruments can be collected.

The music program is a part of the recently instituted Continuing Education Program. During the first semester of classes at the jail the program coordinator discovered that prisoners were most interested in the classes in creative writing, sociology of ethnic minorities and in music.

The enthusiastic response to music has led to the effort to collect the necessary equipment for the band, Kelley indicated.

Persons wishing to donate an idle horn, flute or saxophone of any type are asked to call the Friends Outside office, 661-6900, and talk with the volunteer about the prisoners' band.

FAMILIAR FACES to be missing from the Serramonte Shopping Center scene, now that school is opening, include Betsy Anderson who departs for University of Washington to begin her college career, and Ann Scott who will start her senior year at California State University, San Jose.

MRS. EDNA LAUREL Calhan reminds all members of the Fifty Plus Club who wish to attend the annual club picnic, that Emil Arnold is now collecting $1 per person to cover the cost of the outing.

The picnic will be held in the Crow's Nest, at Junipero Serra Park, just off Crystal Springs Road, on September 16.

Mrs. Calhan reports that there is plenty of good parking at the park and members will be forming car pools which will leave Pacifica between 9 a.m. and noon. Those needing transportation should mention that fact to Arnold when making reservations for themselves and their guests.

Home after a full summer of sight-seeing in Europe is Michael Fernandez.

Fernandez hopes to be able to share some of his experience with his class during the weeks ahead.

I AM SURE LOTS of you are getting programs organized for fall or have summer experiences you would like to share so let me hear from you soon. Write Louanne Heath, 70 DeSoto Street, San Francisco, California 94127. Deadline for column items is Wednesday at 5 p.m.

HERMAN ERLER, incoming president of the Abraham Lincoln P-TA in Daly City, accepts the gavel of his new office from Mrs. D. Smith, the outgoing president.

Good morning, good cooks.

How about having a stew tonight that takes about 5 minutes to make and one and one-half hours to bake? It's name tells the story.

SPEEDY STEW

2 pounds stew meat, beef or veal
1 can cream of mushroom soup
½ soup can water or white wine
1 package dried onion soup mix

Place the two pounds meat in casserole, pour in the one can cream of mushroom soup, half can water and shake the onion soup mix over all.

Cover and bake in 325-degree oven 1½ hours. If you want you can add a package of frozen mixed vegetables for the last 15 minutes.

SINCE IT IS going to take such a short time to prepare dinner, how about making some cookies? These Raisin Drops are a soft, spicy, fruit cookie that keep well.

RAISIN DROPS

2 cups raisins
1 cup water
1 cup shortening
2 teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
¼ teaspoon each, nutmeg and allspice
2 cups sugar
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup chopped nuts

Combine the two cups raisins with one cup water; boil five minutes. There should be ½ cup liquid left. Cool.

Blend the one cup shortening with two teaspoons salt, one and one-half teaspoons cinnamon and fourth teaspoon each nutmeg and allspice, gradually add the two cups sugar, creaming thoroughly. Add the three well-beaten eggs, one teaspoon vanilla and beat until fluffy. Blend in ½ cup of the flour and then the raisins with liquid.

Mix one teaspoon each baking powder and soda with the remaining three and one-half cups flour, then blend into batter. Stir in the one cup nuts.

Chill dough until stiff. Drop by rounded teaspoonsful on lightly greased cookie sheets and bake in 400-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes.

Bakes 8 to 9 dozen cookies.

THERE WAS a time when Friday was a meatless day. Now we still have meatless days, not for religious reasons but for financial reasons . . . stretching the budget. This Friday dish served with mixed vegetables and a tossed salad makes a mighty tasty dinner.

FRIDAY SPECIAL

12 slices (day old) bread
6 slices cheese
4 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups milk
1 can tomato sauce
¾ teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Lightly butter a rectangular pan, place six slices of bread in bottom. Put cheese on each slice bread and top with remaining bread.

Blend the four beaten eggs with the one and one-half cups milk, one can tomato sauce, three-fourths teaspoon salt and pepper to taste. Pour over sandwiches, let stand one hour. Bake in 325-degree oven 40 minutes.

SINCE WE'RE thinking of easy main dishes. These lamb patties certainly fit into the category, with the added word . . . delicious.

BAKED LAMB PATTIES

1 pound ground lamb
4 slices bacon
1 can consomme

Form the ground lamb into four patties and wrap with bacon. Lightly grease a skillet and brown on one side, season with salt and pepper, turn and brown other side. Season again. If there is too much fat in skillet, pour off some. Add the canned consomme as it comes from the can. The amount depends on the patties you are fixing, it should be about ¼ inch deep. Bake in 350-degree oven for 40 minutes, basting occasionally.

If you like you might add a little mint jelly to the consomme as you baste and bake.

An Apology To DC Council

MY APOLOGIES to the Daly City Council. We knocked them pretty hard last week concerning the Guadalupe Health Clinic using the vacant City Hall on Wellington.

We asked that politics be set aside and the clinic be given use of the structure. The column was written and set in type before the Monday night Council meeting and, you guessed it, the Council unanimously voted to lend use of the building to the clinic officials at $500 monthly, instead of the $1000 earlier asked It was a good show, something I'm sure the city will not regret Unfortunately, the otherwise happy occasion got a wet blanket tossed on it by Councilman McRobert Stewart, who vowed to hover over the clinic directors, to insure the "great sacrifice" the city was making was not in vain. Ah, me, such is politics nowadays.

ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES Louis J. Papan and Theodore Long are now in the midst of fund-raising. Long has been sailing forth on the bay, using ferries as a money-getter (after his bitter attacks on his opponent regarding fund-raising we thought he didn't use money); and Papan's People are planning a mid-September dinner to be held in Daly City.

NEW NAME, old group — The Original Daly City Protective Association has been formed to take the place of the Save Old D.C. group. Conrad Pavellas, co-chairperson, claims 300 membership, but admits all are not "paid up members."

They carry the banner of the former group of residents in the area: Turn control of the redevelopment agency over to residents of the affected area; dismiss the appointed Citizens Advisory group and make such a group an elective post voted on by residents of the redevelopment area; let the people in the area negotiate their own deals with developers rather than agency arrangements and condemnation.

They meet at the Our Lady of Perpetual Help church every third Tuesday at 8 p.m.

We wonder if a resident property owner of the redevelopment area, placed in the post of Redevelopment Director, can legally function without being in violation of conflict of interest laws. Such a legal battle would be interesting indeed.

FLASHY FLASH — Excerpt from National League of Cities magazine:

"A town meeting in Medley, Fla. (pop. 351) can become a real family affair. The mayor, Emmitt Chaffin, 71, takes his place beside Councilman Tobie Wilson, Medley's police chief and the mayor's son-in-law. Taking minutes at the meeting is Town Clerk Ella Jane Wilson, the mayor's daughter and the police chief's wife. Kenneth and Billy Chaffin, the mayor's sons, may be there too. Kenneth is the police lieutenant and Billy the police sergeant."

NOW ISN'T that a coincidence? We have a city that operates something like that right here in the North County.

THE SHADOW knows that the North County Sanitation District (inspired by guess who) has "found" 13 new sewer connections to be charged this year to Colma Councilman Raymond Ottoboni. Apparently the city in making up the annual property sewer charge rate ($24 per connection) accidentally overlooked these added connections on Ottoboni's property. We have been assured by officials of the sanitation district the total charges will be on Councilman Ottoboni's billings this year.

We also have been told it will be hard to establish exactly when the sewers were connected. There probably will not be retroactive charges made. It might be too much to ask, but Mr. Ottoboni, former mayor, chairman of the city's Planning Commission, and civic leader, might find it in his heart to just TELL the district when those connections were made.

CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY — Seems a limousine pulled up to the side entrance of the Cow Palace last weekend where a well known rock group was performing. Before the driver could explain the car was his own and not owned by any member of the musical group, teenagers began tearing off "souvenirs." Police broke up the enthusiastic hunters, but not before they had inflicted some $1300 in damages.

IT'S OFFICIAL — Rufus the lion will take over where the late Frazer left off down in Lion Safari in southern California. Rufus, 15, is described as very docile and quiet. Not given to being rowdy. His credo: Make love, not roar.

NICE NEWS (For a change) — Doelger's chief of security, Henry Gross, just came back from vacation. He spent his holiday with builder Henry Doelger on the yacht Westlake III cruising the Riviera. That's not the story. Gross' wife has needed major surgery for some time. The drawback was m-o-n-e-y, lots of it. Aboard the Good Ship Westlake, Doelger thanked Gross for his more than two decades of association with his company — with an open checkbook for the complete cost of his spouse's operation. (Now tell me that isn't a nice story.)

The Public Voice

Editor, The Post:

The pledge all athletes take before competing in the Olympic Games is "I promise to take part in the Olympic Games in the true spirit of sportsmanship."

I wonder if they mean sportmanship or politics. The small, picayunish attitude of some of the "athletes," makes me wonder.

Insisting that the little five and ten cent country of Rhodesia not be granted permission to compete certainly smacks of politics rather than sportmanship. Picayunish is the word. When full grown men act like children and pout over every little thing that does not meet with their approval then I feel that it is time that I stop contributing to the welfare and support of the Olympic Games and every other amateur sport. I have contributed to many, many athletic sporting events to help defray expenses for amateurs for a number of years.

If memory serves me right, I remember that several winners at the last Olympic Games held in Mexico City had the audacity to stand in the winner s box and give the clenched fist salute, the salute of the Black Panthers. They were instantly sent home by the games authorities for this insult. Apparently it is the same group of radicals that threatened to abandon the games if Rhodesia were allowed to perform this year.

These same radicals could not pay their own fare to Oakland, but will accept everything that well-intentioned contributors like myself offer them in order that they may compete in the greatest event of their lives — the Olympic Games.

Ryan Checks In

Report From Deadhorse

By GEORGE GOLDING

The temperature was freezing and snow was falling Thursday noon when San Mateo County Assemblyman Leo Ryan telephoned The Post to report on his trip to the Arctic Circle.

Ryan was among a group of 40 publishers and legislators visiting the north coast of Canada and Alaska to see the huge natural gas and oil fields there. He will be returning to San Mateo County this evening.

The group went as guests of the Southern California Gas Company and the Pacific Lighting Corporation, which are member firms of a 14-company consortium known as the Northwest Study Group.

Northwest has spent $20 million in research preparing to build a 1,500-mile pipeline from Prudhoe Bay on the north coast of Alaska to Calgary, Alberta, Canada, Ryan said.

This is not the "Alyeska pipeline," he said. The Alyeska line would carry oil, also from Prudhoe Bay, to refineries in Canada and the United States. Its construction has been halted by lawsuits seeking to prevent destruction of the Arctic Circle ecology.

By contrast, said Ryan, the Northwest Study Group's pipeline is much farther along in planning and "will be built."

Ryan's group met in Calgary Monday morning and has visited Yellowknife, capital of Canada's Northwest Territories, and smaller Arctic communities such as Norman Wells, San Sault, Inuvik, Tuktoyaktuk, and Deadhorse, on Prudhoe Bay.

They visited America's Dewline radar installations, research plants, and the natural gas fields which are expected to produce 20 trillion cubic feet of gas within the next two years.

"What they are doing here is not a question of whether they should do it or not," said Ryan, "it has gone far beyond that.

"The energy needs of the United States are such that this particular pipeline, although it is essentially a Canadian project, is essential in order to maintain the power needs of the nation."

Ryan commented that the United States uses half the world's available sources of energy each year and that California uses a seventh of the nation's total.

The output of the Prudhoe Bay gas fields, he said, would barely keep California going at its present level of consumption for another two years.

He said the Northwest Study Group had spent millions on research into problems of building the pipeline, including the problem of replacing any of the Arctic tundra that might be damaged.

"The Tundra is unbelievably fragile," he commented.

Ryan said he found one aspect of the visit fascinating. The vastness of Canadian and Alaskan territory.

"The Northwest Territories cover 1.3 million square miles, almost half the size of the United States, he said, "with a total population of 39,000, about as many people as live in Pacifica."

"Yellowknife, the capital city, has about 7,000 people, and Inuvic, where we spent Tuesday night, about 3,500. About half of them are Eskimos. One of the tragedies of this thing is that their whole life-style is being rapidly changed."

Ryan commented that "the land here is flat, and you can see tremendous differences."

Sunset Tuesday night, he said, was at 1 a.m. Wednesday.

Then the phone went buzzzzz, and there were no more words from Deadhorse, Alaska, on Prudhoe Bay. At least none that could be discerned over the static.

Law Concerned: Keeping Trouble Away

"The practice of law is concerned not so much with getting people out of legal trouble as with keeping them out of it in the first place."

The increasingly complex system of our laws makes legal assistance often indispensable in situations which may have nothing to do with crime or court action. The act of coming of age, marriage, adoption of children bring new legal and personal responsibilities. Legal assistance is often necessary for the protection of personal and property rights and status changes which affect business or financial affairs bring new obligations which may call for changes in tax-reporting methods and various legal documents.

THE MAKING or revision of a will is a very important legal matter. A good lawyer will plan your estate and inform you of methods whereby substantial savings in taxes and other estate costs may be realized.

A real estae broker may obtain the signatures of buyer and seller on a purchase agreement but he may not prepare other legal documents involved in the sale. The person without proper knowledge of the laws relating to real estate, taxes, insurance contracts and other subjects, and who attempts to act as his own lawyer endangers both the interests of buyer and seller.

ORAL agreements should always be avoided. Any written agreement should be examined by an attorney before signing or, better, should be prepared by him. A lawyer should be consulted before any sales option, purchase agreement or similar legal agreement representing a major financial obligation is signed.

How do you find the lawyer who you can trust to uphold and protect your rights? Ask a good friend concerning his lawyer or a business acquaintance you have confidence in. Bar associations maintain a lawyer referral service which can be contacted for competent attorneys and their ratings. Local bar associations, in some of the larger communities, maintain a lawyer reference service which will arrange for a one-half hour visit with a lawyer for a small fee.

A PERSON who lacks financial resources to retain a lawyer at any fee can contact a Legal Aid Office. To qualify for this assistance a family of four can have not more than a $400 monthly income, own no property nor have a bank account.

The income varies $40 with the number in the family. For instance a family of three can have only $360 income whereas a family of five can have $450. The Legal Aid does not handle personal injury cases because a lawyers fee may be collected by the injured party. A wife cannot ask for a divorce through Legal Aid if the husband earns more than a stated sum. As the state provides a private defender for criminal and traffic cases, such suits are not handled by Legal Aid.

Gallap Poll On Marijuana

A Gallop Poll published in March 1972 shows that 80 per cent of all Americans oppose the legalization of marijuana on the grounds that it is mentally or physically harmful and that it leads to the use of other drugs.

A more recent poll shows that 47 per cent of the persons canvassed believe marijuana leads to the use of hard drugs, 32 per cent disagree, and 21 per cent don't know. Sixty-six per cent agree that while marijuana may not be physically addictive, the use of it becomes a psychological necessity for millions of neurotics.

OF THE PEOPLE polled, 38 per cent believe the government should forbid the use of anything that has not been proved harmless. However, 54 per cent think the government has no right to do so, and 8 per cent have other opinions.

To the question, "Is it wrong for a person to purposely change the condition of his mind, even for a limited time, by the use of drugs, alcohol, or other stimulants?" Forty-four per cent of the people polled said it is not wrong, 38 per cent disagreed with them, and 18 per cent said something else.

The results of the poll were published by Stephen Edwards in the August issue of "U.S. Catholic."

Along with the results Edwards includes several comments from the people who were polled. One man wrote that "the suggestion that we legalize marijuana appears to be a clear-cut case of barking up the wrong grass—Pot is not necessarily good, but its illegality is definitely contributing to the destruction of society."

A WOMAN OBSERVED that marijuana should be legalized because "the creativity and talents of the youth are being smothered by unnecessary prohibitions and injustices and labeling." On the other hand several of the people who were polled believe that marijuana should not be legalized until science knows more about it.

Others believe the laws should be modified so they can regulate the excessive use of marijuana along the line of laws that regulate the use of alcohol.

Author Edwards writes that the question may be deeper than legalizing marijuana. Says he, "Whether we like it or not, the recreational use of drugs is here to stay . . . we must learn to live within a society where drugs are a significant factor."

He writes that ". . . we must begin to start thinking seriously about the validity of the recreational use of safe drugs."

EDWARDS' ARTICLE is in a section of the periodical, "U.S. Catholic," that is entitled "Sounding Board." Its purpose is to present one person's opinion in a several-sided subject. In doing so the editors strive to "accurately reflect the major opinion trends."

Their endeavors have produced articles that provide readers with an insight to the thoughts of many Americans on the issues of the day.

A Spectator Or Participant

Spectator or participant? This is a decision made advertently by many. Some choose to passively observe the changing scene. Others want a part of the action, and try to move and change society and the world through personal involvement and commitment.

This past two weeks I have had a unique opportunity to reflect on the choice. Flat on my back, first with pneumonia and later with a blood infection, I was forced to play the passive role—to watch, study and think. For a brief period the real world of law, business, politics and writing were all beyond reach. Far from being a competitor, I was, by the accident of a few triumphant bacteria, a bystander—observing and even resenting the opportunity of others to compete.

The later days of recovery included hours of watching the supreme competitiveness of the Olympic Games. Event after event displayed the devotion of the participants to the hard training and discipline required for excellence.

It was fascinating to observe the changing nature of American performance. Once we "owned" such events as the men's dashes, the pole vault and discus. This year our efforts seem more widely spread, with losses in events of former unquestioned supremecy being made up in wrestling, boxing, and an assortment of silver and bronze medals in events in which we have traditionally done less well.

Taken together, it seems our Olympic team this year has been strong, as always. But the rest of the world, West Germany, East Germany, Japan, Finland, Cuba, Russia and others have been catching up. We can still win medals (more than most) but can only do so as a competitor among equals.

Future Olympiads will see American performance as successful only in the event a sufficient number of talented Americans want to be in the action enough to put in the hours, weeks, months and years needed to attain competitive excellence.

The change in Olympic fortunes is but one facet of the present American position in the world at large. Once we dominated trade and commerce—now we must battle for markets with many nations, Japan, West Germany, France, Italy and others. The challenge in conventional arms becomes more imposing with each passing year. Always strong in raw manpower, Russia and China enjoy improving technology, and Russia now openly competes for naval and merchant marine supremacy.

Where we once presumed an endless supply of natural resources, we are becoming more and more dependent upon imported essentials. Nuclear supremacy, once assured to America, is today close to a two-way standoff, with China soon to emerge as a third "equal."

As in the Olympics, the United States of America is in a good position to compete in a world of equals or near equals. Two things, however, we cannot do: (1) rely upon some kind of historical or natural supremacy, or (2) refuse to seek excellence and to compete because of the mistaken concept that there is something inherently wrong with trying and succeeding.

In a way, the 1972 Olympics serve as a signal—that the coming decades could be among the most golden for the American dream. Not, like the 50's and 60's as a kind of legacy from past military victories, but as the ongoing result of involvement, commitment, work and success. In a word, of the art of living to the fullest.

Meeting the challenges of a highly competitive world won't be easy, or always pleasant. To look inward only, however, would be to give up, and that's unthinkable.

Westlake, Concordia Teams Work to a Tie

To culminate the summer soccer training program sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department at Westmoor and Skyline Schools playgrounds, Herb Bethge, the coach, accepted an opportunity to have the boys aged 11 through 13 play against a team from the Concordia Club.

The game, which resulted in a 0-0 tie, took place before a considerable crowd at San Francisco Balboa Soccer stadium. It was a demonstration youth soccer game before the international match between the California All Stars and the champion soccer side from Israel.

Playing their normal game the local boys, many of whom had regularly competed for the Westlake International Soccer Club, combined their experience well with that of boys who had just started soccer this summer.

In the second half these boys substituted at fullback — John Gold, Jim Flaherty; at halfback — Jeff Johnson; at forward — Randy Robles, Mauricio Pella, Jeff Danner.

Outstanding for the local team were veterans Chris Lonner — small, but courageous in defending his goal; Louis Navarro, a forceful wing halfback with good ball control; Ralph Joshua, the center fullback, a determined stoppper, who continuously broke up the opponents attacks and got his own team on the move again.

At centerforward it was the ballhandling of Lefty Kazakis on a visit from his native Greece, and left winger Antonio Cruz as well as inside left Mike Teichner, showed good speed on occasion.

It is also intended that many of the youngsters, ten and under, who participated in the summer soccer training program at Ben Franklin playground and also represented the Westlake International Soccer Club in the San Francisco Soccer League summer games, will play in a demonstreation game at Balboa Stadium later this fall.

Among those that will represent the benefits of constant soccer practice are Goalies Jason Bruni and Chris Willsey; fullbacks, Nick Macchi, Steve Suvaco, Greg Anawalt, and Mike Kennedy; center fullback, David Inocencio; halfbacks, Dave Dennison, Matt Lonner, Francoise Martin, Sergio Barba, Francisco Romero, Sergio Romero; fowards, Mark Buciarelli, Carlos Nacarro, Jim Kennedy, Frank Willsey, Orlando Romero, Paul and Teresa Abrahamson.

A Female Eye-View of a Jefferson Grid Workout

By GLORIA HIGHLAND

The time — August 28; the place — football field at Jefferson High School. The characters involved were junior and senior students returning from a summer of fun in the sun and rarin' to go into action; and the healthy, robust coaches Tom Martinez, Rich Lalami and new sophomore coach John Sochor, along with his assistant, Ron Krieger.

As I watched the coaches working out the fellas, it occurred to me what a job this coaching business is. They have to be able to see the talent on hand and utilize their men to the fullest capacity. The coaches have to work out the teams to polish off all the rusty spots, toughen them up and get them in condition, starting — now — since the first home game is against Galileo on September 15.

The boys were getting a workout, running, passing, blocking, catching, going through running plays — the whole bit! But the coaches were watching and scrutinizing each and every move all the way. When they saw a mistake, Martinez was right out there, showing and demonstrating the way it should be done, "or the other guy will kill ya!"

I saw one player go for a pass, and the ball slipped through his fingers. "Did you see the catch I didn't make?" he asked his buddy. Well, you've got to have a sense of humor to go along with the grind of training.

After a few days of sweating and running off all the pizzas, milk shakes and French fries consumed during the summer, the coaches will really have the boys getting whipped into fighting teams. But for a few days to begin with, the parents will be seeing pooped-out kids, with aching bones and sore muscles. Just wait a few more weeks and the Jefferson Indians will be looking forward to an active, successful '72-'73 season of football.

Some of the returning players include Ernie O'Connor, second leading receiver; Dan Duran, guard; Terry Richards, tackle; Greg King, halfback; Scott Budd, wide receiver; Dan Cross, linebacker; John Moura, wide receiver, and Steve Gilford, defensive halfback. Coming up from the soph teams will be Jerry Bartok, quarterback; Bill Loscutoff, startiig center, and Roger Famero, fullback.

We are all looking forward to a lively team of Jefferson Indians and know that they will be encouraged by the Jefferson student body all the way.

Seals Upset Swingin' A's In D.C. Loop

The Daly City Recreation Department 1972 Summer High School Slow Pitch League came to a close with the Seals upsetting the Swingin' A's twice in the playoffs to capture the league crown.

The Seals and A's both advanced to the championship round by defeating the Hobos and Regal Selects. The Seals used the shutout pitching of Bob Finney to defeat the Hobos, 3-0.

The Swingin' A's got superb pitching from Jeff Borghello as they shut out the Regal Selects 4-0. The Seals then forced an extra championship game by completely throttling the Swingin's A's attack, 5-0. Brad Reid and Bob Finney led the Seals to this victory. Finney pitched his second consecutive shutout, while Reid's clutch double drove in two runs for the Seals.

In the championship game the high flying Seals used the outstanding defense of Steve Giannini, Bruce Costello, Bill Lucia, and Kirk Dove to defeat the Seals 7-2.

Members of the championship team are as follows: Jeff Baca, Bob Stout, Chuck Davis, Bob Finney, Clay Troxler, Brad Reid, Ron Reynard, Kirk Dove, Ralph Sands, John Lemmon, Bill Lucia, Dewe Lucia, Marty Sands, Robert Stephenson, Don Thuener, Bruce Costello, and Robin Green.

The Seals were led to the championship by the outstanding coaching of Peter Lucia. Pete constantly kept the Seals playing good ball and was an added incentive to a good ball club.

Passing the Time While the Traffic Clears

CAMPING OUT—The largest crowd (61,237) ever to see a sporting event in San Francisco created a monumental traffic problem at Candlestick Park on Sunday afternoon. After the 49er-Raiders' football game, cagey fans waited for the traffic to clear by relaxing in the parking lot, like this group of campers.

TV TIME — Modern science is pretty wonderful sometimes. While waiting to get out of a Candlestick parking lot, this group watched the Olympics via satellite from Germany on a portable TV set.

PICNIC TIME—Even watching a football game can work up an appetite, so many parkers brought along a picnic spread to keep everyone happy while the lot emptied. Traffic was slow but not the big mess it might have been. Many left before the game ended, spreading out the rush time.

Fifth Quarter Played In the Parking Lots

By TOM POWELL

Going to 49er games would be more fun if it weren't for the —— traffic.

Sitting in an overheating car as thousands more like you crawl toward the freeway can take all the kick out of Kwalick's one-handed leaping snare in the end zone or Schreiber's last minute plunge to pay dirt. There must be a better way.

And there is.

Ever since the Niners started winning and the crowds started growing the Candlestick parking lot has begun to teem with a new kind of fan—the tailgater.

The word has gotten around that hundreds of fans from all over the Bay Area are no longer racing from the stadium and leaping into their sedans and roadsters.

Instead, they stroll casually from the park when the game is over and make their way to car or camper at a leisurely pace. Upon arrival, they open the trunk or refrigerator, crack open a cold one and sit back and relax.

The word is also getting around that a few of the tailgaters ingage in other forms of recreation.

At the Sunday's game, for example, diehard 49er faithful were observed in the following activities:

Two tanned, muscular young men were playing football with a lovely young lady. It was noted that they were keeping their eye on the ball with great difficulty.

A blue-eyed miss from Marin County was serving up hot hors d'oeuvres in a Winnebago full of elated persons of relative sobriety.

Two visitors from the East Bay (disgruntled Raider partisans?) sat quietly in their Cadillac with a coat over the windshield, contendedly watching the Olympics on a portable TV.

One shirtless inebriate, apparently a holdover from Kezar days, wandered aimlessly around the parking lot yelling hosannas to the 49ers. He kept trying to throw his arms around fellow lovers but was shunned.

A small girl sat in the trunk of a large American car, happily popping the tops off aluminum beer cans and chattering.

One male and one female were standing together inside a camper truck with an open door, embracing each other.

It was wonderful.

How Stars Get in Way

Recently we did an item inspired by a quote from Kenny Smith, Jefferson High's great athlete. What Kenny had said was, "It takes a greater coach to coach a team of all-stars than a team that's less talented."

We then went on to discuss how in team sports such as basketball and football "stars" can in fact often get in the way of team performance because of their need to flaunt their individual skills rather than to blend them with the abilities of their teammates. We parenthetically noted that while baseball is basically a team sport, certain skills, such as batting, do require individual talent which isn't tied up in teammwork per se.

A week or so after our column, C. C. Johnson Spink, editor and publisher of the Sporting News, did a column on teamwork in which he discussed baseball as a one-on-one game within a team game, went into how much more teamwork counts in sports such as football, basketball and hockey, and then posed the question: "Why do some teams with fine individual talents fail to win as often as other teams with lesser individual ability?"

HE OFFERED as a possible answer a study recently concluded at Ithaca College by Dr. William F. Straub, professor of physical education, and graduate student Guy F. Arnold, on performance factors, other than skill levels, of 107 varsity basketball players with 10 high school teams in Upper New York State.

They discovered, not surprisingly, that the most talented teams do not always make the winningest teams. Winning, they found, takes not only talent, but such factors as interpersonal relationships, coaching skills, conditioning, etc.

And, surprisingly, the study showed that not only was there no significant difference in personalities between the players of the top five teams and the bottom five teams, but that interscholastic competition produced no significant personality changes in the athletes. The only constant factor on winning teams was

(Please See Page 21, Columns 1-2)

Le Pacini

How Stars Get in Way

that of cohesiveness, or morale. In other words, the coaches who were able to get their teams to play together — by whatever means — were the most successful.

The study also pondered the reason for participation in athletics. It was discovered that athletes who played on victorious teams, "possessed greater task motivation and emphasized that they played . . . because of a desire to win games . . . (while) players on the less successful teams said they played because of a desire to be with friends or because of some selfish motivation like trying to lead the league in scoring."

ALSO IN the Sporting News, an editorial advocating three eight team leagues and a geographic realignment which would put the Giants and A's, the Cubs and White Sox, The Yanks and Mets, Dodgers and Angels, Astros and Rangers, and so forth, in the same leagues.

These are changes we've been in favor of for the past several years, and according to the Sporting News, big league executives are now seriously considering such matters.

MORE ON our continuing fight to either do away with baseball's defensive statistics or stamp them with something like a surgeon general's warning that "belief in the foregoing may be dangerous for those seeking the truth."

There aren't many baseball people, for example, who would disagree that in Chris Speier and Tito Fuentes the Giants have at least one of the better double play combinations in the league. Yet as a team the Giants stand 11th in the NL in DP's. (They're 10th in fielding average).

And probably only Houston rooters, who venerate Roger Metzger, or Cards fans, who worship Dal Maxvill, would claim a better defensive shortstop than Speier, yet Chris is only fourth in the league in individual fielding, and of the 14 most active shortstops in the league, he stands only tied for 10th in DP participation. The only short patchers he beats out, as a matter of fact, are Bud Harrelson, who at the time of the stats release had only four fewer DP's while playing in 11 fewer games; Darrel Chancey, who has played less than one-third the games that Speier has; and Jackie Hernandez, who has played fewer than half the games that Speier has. Chris is tied with Bill Russell, who has played only two-thirds of the games at shortstop as has Speier.

ON THE OTHER hand, nobody would accuse the Yankees of having a brilliant DP combination. Gene Michael is a good shortstop, but hasn't played a lot of games because he's weak offensively. His frequent replacement, Gerry Kenney, is often flashy, but not steady. The regular second baseman, Horace Clark, has, in fact, been said to have one basic flaw in his otherwise all-around good play — his pivoting ability on the DP. Yet, the Yankees lead the majors in doubleplays!

The answer, of course, is that the Yankee pitching staff is made up basically of sinker-ball pitchers. That type of pitcher makes batters hit the ball on the ground, and given enough ground balls, even fumble fingers are, by the law of averages, going to make a lot of DP's.

And the Giants don't have a lot of sinker-ball pitchers . . . obviously.

EVERYBODY is aware of the nearly season-long rumor that Juan Marichal would be traded. At first the rumored recipient was Pittsburgh, and then when it was learned that the Giants had asked wavers on him, came the theory that he would be shipped to the American League, where he couldn't come back to embarrass the Giants.

We won't go into all the ramifications and complications of the Marichal case, which are often confusing and upsetting, because what upsets us even more is the possibility of a Willie McCovey trade.

We have no concrete evidence of such a transaction in the works, and hope we're wrong; but what causes our suspicion is the apparently sudden decision for surgery on Ed Goodson's leg. Goodson has had the bad knee for a couple of years, now, and it's been obvious that sooner or later he would probably require surgery. Why couldn't the Giants have waited until the end of a rapidly closing season, unless they wanted the repairing done early in order to give Goodson as good a spring training trial as possible in good health in order to make as early a decision as possible on whether or not they will be able to get along with McCovey next season?

QUOTE from Charley Fox in early December, 1971: "I'd like to have McDowell, but let's face it, he was 30 pounds overweight, he had a bad attitude, and who knows if his arm is sound?

LOCAL COLLEGE FOOTBALL NOTES — According to the Cal State U. at San Francisco (that's S.F. State, for the natives) press brochure, two former Terra Nova gridders are in the probable starting lineup this year; Frank Strazalkowski at split end and Bob Stuckey at defensive end.

Jim Lewis, former Westmoor fullback and brother of former 49er Gary, is on the Washington State varsity squad.

Daly City Leagues

Two Teams Are Undefeated

As the Daly City Recreation Division leagues moved through their third week of play, the standings grow tighter and tighter.

In "A" league action, the Westlake Lounge doesn't know how to relax; this week they cooled off Motley's More Ice 15-6. The Lounge jumped off to a fast start scoring 5 runs in the first inning. The heavy hitting was supplied by Walt Ortiz, Bob Miller, Mike Smyth and Jeff Honk. Rich Cross filling in at 2nd base led the defense with 2 great plays turning them both into double plays. The Baybailers and Master Batters fought to a 9-6 decision that the Bailers won with Barry Carli and Dana Galassi each collecting 3 hits.

The Broadway Plumbers pulled out a 6-5 decision over the Bank of America with Bob Bisio going 3 for 4 and Bob Nurisso playing long ball with a tape measure homer. Q-Rolo sheet metal rolled up a 3-1 win over the Wallbangers. The Raiders slid to a 4-2 victory over Sierra Ski 'n' Dive in a game that featured the old Raider vets against a young Sierra team.

NATIONAL LEAGUE HIGHLIGHTS

The Sluggin' Fools finally got into the win column by outslugging Baders Jewelers 14-11. Donald Carter hit a solo shot and Jumpin' Joe Skaar hit a grand slam and drove in 7 runs for the Fools. The Pomona Casuals behind Dan Caffarata's brilliant pitching edged the Gem Meats team 3-2. Andy Fracchia and Mike Fellman supplied the Casuals' offense with key hits and fine base running. Larry Zachintini hit a homer for Gem Meats.

The Whispers creeped up on the Soul Patrol and claimed a 5-2 victory.

Tim Russell, Ron Hackett, Greg Hanson and Phil Medina were the guys who supplied the key hits in the Whispers' victory. Able Building was unable to contain the Odd Squad and succumbed to a 13-0 whitewash. Steve Geramoni hurled the shutout and his battery mate Lou Quint supplied two key hits in the early stages of the game. Leapin' Lee Attabit had another great game as he went 4 for 4 to lead the offense.

The Odd Squad defense was fantastic as they recorded the first triple play of the season and "Pleasin'" Paul Phalen made an unassisted double play on a brilliant catch of a line drive. Joe Russo played some heads up ball for the builders in a losing cause.

AMERICAN LEAGUE HIGHLIGHTS

After playing a poor defensive game and trailing 7-3 in the seventh inning, the Brothers IV exploded with five runs to down the Klackers, 8-7. Lance Racines with 4 for 4, Mike Dachille 3 for 3 and Red Allen with 3 for 4 led the late attack of the Brothers IV. Nestle's crunched the Beer Busters 32-7 with the big hits coming from Greg and Rick Clatt and Mike Sturgeon who all hit homer for Nestles.

The Emanons downed the Fil-Am Marauders 14-10 with Frank Montelecne going 3 for 3 and Mike Matasi 3 for 4 to lead the Emanons' attack. In the last game of the week Gino's Lounge took the lid off Canco 7-1.

PACIFIC COAST

The Round Table Knights continue to out joust their opposition and remain the only undefeated team in the Pacific Coast Division. This week they prescribed defeat for Longs Drugs by a final score of 7-5. The bats of Melody Toyota played a happy tune for Hector Gonzalez's crew as they rode over the Nomads 17-6. Rich Virgil, Hector Gonzalez, John Fodrini and Joe Melodia all went 3 for 4 for the Toyota men.

The Blankers pulled out a big one as they cashed in on the hitting of Nate Oliver with 4 for 6 and went on to defeat Western Dental 21-16. The World of carpets rolled up an early lead and held on to down the J & J Plumbing 6-4.

Co-manager Jerry Bunn celebrated his birthday by handing Jerry Brower's Plumbers their first defeat. John Galea with 3 for 3 and a clutch triple by Doug Grey led the offensive drive while the whole team played an outstanding game on defense.

Boat Sailing Course Is Slated at SC

Skyline College's first course in small boat sailing will begin on September 11 at 1 p.m. in room 205, Building 7, according to Tom Fraley, Skyline's Community Services assistant.

Offered under the auspices of the Community Services office, the course will run a total of 13 weeks. Following the first meeting on campus, all subsequent boating sessions will be held at either the Foster City Lagoon or Lake Merced in San Francisco. A $15 enrollment fee will cover the cost of the boats and instruction.

"Because this course has a definite limited enrollment, interested persons should sign up as soon as possible," Fraley advised. Application blanks will be found in the Community Services brochure, which will be distributed throughout north San Mateo County at the end of August. They will also be available through local libraries and at the college. Interested persons may enroll in person at the theater box office on campus between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

"We are pleased to open our fall Community Services program with this unique course," Fraley explained, noting that there have been a number of requests for such a course in the past.

"We have obtained the services of Robert Peterson, an acknowledged authority on sailing to teach this course," he said. "It will feature two types of small boats.

OLPH Tigers Triumph

The OLPH Tigers were crowned champions of the Daly City Recreation Department Late Summer Sixth Grade Baseball League.

The Tigers and St. Andrews Scots were tied for first place going into the final week, but the PAL Colts jumped up and upset the Scots to give the Tigers the championship. The Colts, Scot and Hunts Teamsters all tied for second place in the exciting sixth grade league.

The Tigers captured the crown with a 2-1 triumph over a fine PAL Bugs Team. OLPH's pitcher Benje Parodi struck out 14 batters to completely mystify the Bugs' offense. Parodi also was the hitting star for OLPH, as his sacrifice bunt in the bottom of the fifth inning brought in the winning run for the Tigers.

The PAL Colts' upset win over the St. Andrews Scots enabled the Colts to gain a tie for second place. Tony Cooper and Bill Kennaugh banged out key base hits for the Colts and sparked them to a 3-1 triumph, in 10 innings, over the Scots.

Bill Mitchell's Hunts team got great performances out of Ray Morton and Paul Papageorge as Hunts ambushed the PAL Serramonte Colonels 10-3. The win moved the doughnut men into a three-way tie for second. Morton fired a three-hitter, while Papageorge supplied the offensive punch by driving in seven runs as Hunts completely dismantled the Colonels.

Black Angus' Stainless Steel Dance Floor

A bit of Las Vegas in San Mateo? If you've seen the futuristic movie "2001" and like to dance, go see the far-out "2001" Stainless Steel dance floor at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant in San Mateo. Bright Day, the spirited musical group, plays on a Las Vegas-type stage behind the bar. Mix up the Stainless Steel room and its mirrors and the Las Vegas-style format, and you have a mind-bending show. The refurbished ($150,000) restaurant features all steak dinners at $3.95 and all beef is U.S.D.A. Choice . . . Leaders of business and political life may be seen dining in the friendly atmosphere of Vince's Seafood and Italian restaurant most any afternoon or evening. The menu is rich in seafood of all kinds, and you can order Italian specialties as well as appetizers, cocktails, soups, large salads, sandwiches and tasteful desserts. Many guests prefer steaks — and there is New York, Top Sirloin, Minute Steak Bordelaise, and Hamburger. Luncheon Specials are numerous and include Sirloin Tips on Monday, Boiled Beef on Tuesday, Veal Parmigiana on Wednesday, Corned Beef and Cabbage on Thursday, and Baked Fish on Friday.

SEAFOOD EXPERT—A corner of Sicily and its incomparable seafood cookery has come to Burlingame with The Fisherman restaurant. The man who brought it is Salvatore Patane, chef-partner. Patane apprenticed for top chefs of Italy, then came to the U.S. and San Francisco's North Beach and Fisherman's Wharf.

Memories Of Carmen Miranda--Finocchio's

Finocchio's versatile Bobby D'Castro brings to life Carmen Miranda's most famous song hits in the new revue at this world-famous nightclub. His multi-colored costume and huge headpiece add to the illusion of authenticity. This is one of the spectacular highlights of the entire evening . . . Few gals on the local restaurant scene have a more bubbly personality than Roberta Fena, co-owner - hostess and sometimes chef at Burlingame's new Broadway Joe's Depot restaurant. This is the first restaurant venture for the husband - wife team of Roberta and Joe, and from the looks of business it's doing just great . . . There is a very relaxed atmosphere in the intimate lounge and comfortably arranged dining rooms at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. It's a great place to gather with football fans following an exciting game. This award - winning restaurant is open for dinners seven nights a week. The food, under the aegis of the Sandoval brothers (they've been at the restaurant for nearly 16 years), consists of especially aged prime-grade beef, seafood and fowl. All dinners are served with choice of soup or salad and garlic bread. Always a highlight to a Scotty Campbell's dinner is the dessert called Maerd Eip, a cheesecake delicacy.

Jovanelo's Serves Continental Cuisine

Only the best of gourmet meals are served at Jovanelo's, where Owners Joe Piccinini, Nello Piccinini and Giovanni Costabile have a personal hand in seeing that your luncheon or dinner is most enjoyable. This San Francisco restaurant is becoming famous for its manner of serving Italian cuisine, prepared Tuscany style. Enjoy cocktails in the lounge; valet parking available . . . You weight-watchers needn't watch other diners having all the fun at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto. Chef Jack Hunter has accomplished the impossible: Low-cal lunches (Saturdays, too), with delightful flavor. Try Prime Rib of Beef, cold-sliced English cut. Another choice for the figure-conscious is char-broiled Chopped Tenderloin Steak . . . Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hanson of Hillsborough (he's the president of Bayview Federal Savings & Loan) hosted a dinner party for San Francisco friends in the Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco.

George 'n' Teddy Return To Whiskey Hill Stage

One look at the parking situation around downtown Burlingame's Whiskey Hill and you can well tell that George 'n' Teddy have returned to the Peninsula. After a week away, the fabulous duo is back on stage entertaining an admiring crowd of wall-to-wall fans. Pete Braillier couldn't be more pleased with the success of his new nitery . . . Of special interest: Bickford's Original Pancakes & Family Fare, located across from Hillsdale Shopping Center and next to the Cinema Theater and Bay Meadows, is now open weekday nights until midnight, Friday and Saturday until 1 a.m., for your family dining convenience. Early risers take note: Bickford's Special Breakfasts are served from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. Mondays through Fridays, and the selection is fabulous. Having a backyard party? Bickford's fried chicken take-out is at your service. You can order a Jumbo Bucket (21 pieces of chicken, 16 biscuits) to a Lunch Box (three pieces of chicken, French fries and four biscuits). Not only that, there's potato salad to go, tossed green salad, whipped potatoes, old-fashioned country style chicken gravy, baked beans, buttermilk biscuits, soft drinks, and buttermilk pancake batter (ready for your griddle — serves five). As for dinner, try the Family Fare Chicken — it's "All you can eat," or Ham Steak Luau.

LUNCHEON FASHION SHOWS — Looks like Al Malatesta has a big winner on his hands with the new Tuesday luncheon fashion shows at the Iron Gate in Belmont, and why not? How can you beat that combination of gorgeous gals and gourmet food! Women enjoy seeing the latest fashions from the Patio Shop, and men like to eye the stunning models. And with chef Ed Zago's delectable luncheon dishes, it adds up to a winning combination all the way.

Scaloppini Prepared Tableside

An extensive collection of California's finest wines and many choice labels from Germany, Greece, Portugal and France are displayed in racks at one end of the dining room at Le Bistro Rouge, a Twenty-fifth Avenue restaurant featuring Continental cuisine fit for the angels. Most dishes are a la carte and are prepared only as ordered. If Owner Dimitrious Fanapoulos suggests Veal Scaloppini cooked by him at tableside, you will see a master at work. Is luncheon served, you aks? Most assuredly — and you'll be surprised at the menu choice . . . Italian dinners (full course style) are one main drawing card of Romano's Italian restaurant, located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Soup, salad, pasta and choice of main entree. Owner and operator is the friendly Enric Romano, who has been servicing the Coastside for many successful years . . . It doesn't matter if you're driving your own car or travelling by scheduled bus, Park Avenue Tours has a package deal to the Nevada fun strip that is guaranteed to save you money. Reno or Lake Tahoe, you name the destination, and Park Avenue Tours, with four offices to serve you will take care of the entire excursion. Bonuses and refunds depend on the length of stay. "It's Christmas every day — the Nevada way."

Expo's Harold Varni Is Proud Grandpop

Harold Varni, Exposition Fish Grotto maitre'd, is bustin' all his coat buttons and rightly so. His thirteen-year-old grandson, Kenneth, has won the Pacific International Trapshooting Association's 1972 Grand Pacific for Youths under 14. Ken knocked off 934 out of 1,000 clay birds in the Reno meet defeating competition from Alaska, British Colbumbia, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington and California. To quote his Granddad "If the kid keeps this up, we'll go back to bow 'n' arrow" . . . To dine at Frank Torres Beach Restaurant in Montara is to dine in a superb atmosphere. The surf is visible from the huge picture windows which almost surround the dining room and cocktail lounge. People come from all over the Bay Area to this scenic spot overlooking the Pacific to enjoy Frank and Fannie's Peruvian specialties. Abalone is another specialty Frank is famed for, and he takes credit for being one of the first to offer it on such a wide basis many years ago . . . Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, the famous family-style restaurant located in South San Francisco's Golden Gate Produce Terminal, is quite a haven for football fans after the games at nearby Candlestick Park. The six-course dinners even include a bottle of wine.

Don Kelly At The Moonraker Organ

The menu at The Moonraker, a gourmet dinner house which overlooks the waters of the Pacific at Rockaway Beach, consists of one item after another for the connoisseur: Filet of Sole Marguery, Chicken Cacciatore Milanaise, Roast Rack of Lamb Kamp[illegible] and Frog Legs a la Provencale, to mention but a few. The theme is nautical, accented by pilings, nets, compass holders, steering wheels, and lanterns. Don Kelly provides the organ music for relaxed dining. Have a favorite tune? Test Don's talent to play at random your song request . . . Downstairs and offering an equally pleasant view of the Pacific, is the Papagayo Room, a colorful Mexican restaurant featuring an array of authentic "south-of-the-border" dishes. Some mild, some tangy, some firey . . . Located just across the street, and also fronting the ocean, is Nick's restaurant, which is the oldest of the Nick Gust owned-operated restaurants. Family-style dinners are served seven days a week. Service begins at 10 a.m. — and that means starting the day off with robust helpings for breakfast. Dancing is featured in the cocktail lounge five nights a week, with the dance sounds being supplied by the Steve Romano Combo Wednesdays through Sunday.

Peanuts Provide Food for Thoughtful Cooks

Innovative shoppers will be glad to know that peanuts and peanut products are featured on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Plentiful Foods List.

A bit of peanut butter and a few other ingredients can give many recipes a special touch of flavor. Recipe creators can use peanuts in salads, as a sandwich spread, in meat, as a sauce or topping, or even in soup.

Some of history's greatest inventions and scientific discoveries came about through accidents. For example, peanut brittle is said to have originated in the late 1800's when a woman whose name is unknown set about making some peanut taffy. Accidentally, she reached for baking soda instead of cream of tartar. Her mistake led to what we now call peanut brittle.

DIXIE PEANUT BRITTLE

2 cups sugar
½ cup white syrup
½ cup water
1½ cups raw peanuts
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt

Cook water, sugar and syrup until it spins a thread. Put in peanuts and cook until they begin to pop. Add butter, salt and soda. Pour onto large cookie sheet. Cook, break into pieces.

PEANUT-BANANA BREAD

One-third cup shortening
Two-thirds cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup chopped salted peanuts
1 cup mashed ripe bananas
1¾ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda

Cream shortening and sugar. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time, and beat thoroughly (one minute, medium speed with electric beater). Add the chopped peanuts. Add the mashed bananas alternately with the flour and soda which have been sifted together twice. Mix lightly, being careful not to overbeat. Turn into a greased 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about an hour and 10 minutes or until done.

INDONESIAN CHICKEN

Yields 8 Servings

½ cup diced or ground onions
2 cloves garlic, minced
½ teaspoon dried ground chili pepper
½ cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon or lime juice
2 broiler-fryer chickens, 2½ to 3 pounds, cut in quarters
2 teaspoons oil

Combine onion, garlic, chili pepper, peanut butter, and salt. Saute in oil 3 minutes. Add soy sauce, water, and lemon juice and cook at low heat 5 minutes. Cool. Marinate chicken in sauce 1 hour, then broil 25-30 minutes, turning the chicken several times and brushing with marinade each time. Heat remaining marinade and serve as a sauce over cooked chicken.

Pesticides in 'Organic' Food

All foods labeled organically grown are not necessarily so, according to the Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection. Tests with several labeled "organically grown" food products showed that a significant percentage of the test group did contain pesticide residue.

Budget Beef Casserole From Spain

Gourmet cooking does not have to involve expensive foods. The real appeal of gourmet dishes lies in the judicious use of flavorings. In This Spanish Beef Casserole, economical foods such as rice and ground beef are combined with imported Spanish olive oil, German wine and cumin.

The gourmet approach includes use of sliced, pimiento-stuffed green olives and minced garlic.

SPANISH BEEF CASSEROLE

1 pound ground lean beef
2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil
½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
Few drops hot pepper sauce
1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes, undrained
½ cup white wine (German Rhine)
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon crushed cumin
Dash black pepper
3 cups cooked rice (cooked in beef broth)

Brown meat in olive oil; then add onion and garlic, cooking until tender but not browned. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into 2-quart casserole. Bake at 350 deg. for 30 minutes.

On Buying Blueberries

To enjoy best quality in blueberries, buy those of a dark blue color with a silvery sheen. The berries should be plump, firm, uniform in size; dry and free from stems or leaves. They'll keep 3 to 5 days, placed loosely in a shallow container in the refrigerator.

BLUEBERRY SOUR CREAM PANCAKES

1-3 cups flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 egg beaten
1 cup sour cream
1 cup milk
1 cup fresh blueberries

Sift dry ingredients together. Combine egg, sour cream and milk. Add to dry ingredients, stirring just enough to combine ingredients. Add blueberries, stirring just enough to mix them in. Drop by cupfuls on hot greased griddle. Cook until surface is covered with bubbles; turn and cook until other side is well browned. Serve hot with maple or blueberry syrup. Makes 18 3-inch pancakes.

Recipes for Hindu Food

Flavors of India by Shanta Nimbark Sacharoff, just published by 101 Productions, San Francisco, contains some 200 recipes from the vegetarian Hindu cuisine and describes the culinary customs and lore of the author's native India.

There are sections on snacks, chutneys, vegetable dishes, rice dishes, dals (bean and lentil dishes), breads and sweets. The chapter on milk products contains a two-page discussion on the techniques of making yogurt. Among the unusual beverages is a recipe for bhang, a milk and marijuana drink which is traditionally served on Hindu religious holidays.

There is no recipe in the book calling for curry powder — an unknown item in Indian kitchens. Instead each dish contains its own subtle blending of spices such as cumin, coriander, cardamon, saffron, tamarind and turmeric.

The 192-page book, printed on pumpkin-colored paper, is illustrated throughout with line drawings by San Francisco artist Linda Robertson. ($3.95 paper, $6.95 cloth).

FIRST CONE

The forerunner of the ice cream cone made its first appearance at the 1904 World Fair in St. Louis. Vendors sold scoops of ice cream wrapped in hot waffles as the popular treat of the time.

Big Bill for Education

Taxpayers are going to spend a bundle this year to educate a lot of San Mateo County students.

They will spend more than $160 million on the schooling of about 156,000 students — a little more than $1,000 per student.

Enrollment figures should reflect trends estblished in the past few years, Myron H. Schussman, deputy county superintendent of schools said yesterday. That means that elementary school enrollment should decline and high school enrollment should remain relatively stable.

Enrollment in the San Mateo Junior College District will increase slightly — about one per cent, according to John Hubbard, spokesman for the district.

Elementary school attendance seems to have peaked in 1968-69 at 86,466. It dropped by a thousand in 1969-70, 1,500 in 1970-71 and more than 2,000 last year.

same with county elementary schools spending more than $74 million, union high schools more than $49 million, unified schools more than $18 million and the college district more than $20 million.

Opening dates for schools in San Mateo County:

High school enrollment hit 36,000 in 1968-69 and has hovered around that figure since then. Not much change is expected there.

The proportion of expenditures will remain about the

Bruno Cuts Tax Rate

San Bruno City Council Monday night adopted a $1.21 per $100 assessed valuation tax rate for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

The rate is an almost 2-cent reduction from last fiscal year. The reduction was made possible because the city last year was too late in adopting a resolution requesting exclusion from the county's fire protection district.

City Manager Gerald Minford said the city was overcharged approximately $38,000 last year. This amount is being returned with a lower tax rate, half this next fiscal year and half the fiscal year after that, said Minford.

tions approving various salary schedules for certain employes.

Minford was granted a salary of $25,500 annually. City Clerk Carl Hultberg's salary was approved at $15,924, and City Attorney Dermot Fitzgerald was granted $12,216 for his part-time services.

In addition to adopting a tax rate the council adopted resolu-

D.C. Police Program to Be Funded

Daly City's police community relations program will continue another year under a $14,974 grant made by the California Council on Criminal Justice.

The grant, contingent upon completion of legal arrangements between the Council and Daly City authorities, was announce by Robert H. Lawson, executive director of the Council staff in Sacramento. The Council, headed by Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, is the state planning agency responsible for administering and coordinating Federal anti-crime programs, including those under the Omnibus Crime Control Act.

The program takes a two-pronged approach, one devoted to youth services, the other directed at the adult community. Program components include:

"Officer Bill" — visits to the kindergarten through third grades are made by a uniformed officer to lecture on safety, and provide children with an opportunity to meet and talk with a police officer.

Drug Education — a series of classes is presented to fifth and sixth grade youngesters.

"Rap" Sessions — informal meetings are held with police and junior and senior high school students.

Cadet Program — College of San Mateo and City College of San Francsico criminology students work part-time with the Daly City police.

Speakers Bureau — presentations are made to civic groups concerning drugs, burglary protection, and other law enforcement problems. Coffee klatches and town meetings are also held.

He said investigation indicated the driver lost control of his car on a slight turn as he was northbound on Airport Boulevard.

Officer Nedwick said he is investigating the case further to determine why the driver lost control. No citations were issued.

Annual Cap Breakfast

The 100 members of the Capuchino Band will hold their sixth pancake breakfast September 30, 7:30 to noon, in the Capuchino High School parking lot.

The menu will include orange juice, pancakes, sausage, milk or coffee.

The Capuchino Band plans to enter several competition parades during 1972-73 and must be self-supporting, a spokesman said.

In previous years the band has competed in Long Beach, Concord, Merced and Santa Cruz and its members have raised the funds to pay for chartering busses, meals, housing and other expenses involved in traveling.

The pancake breakfast is one of the main fund raising projects for the Band.

President is Jim Russell and his 1972-73 officers are Rod Cunningham, Mark Phillips, Lynn Ann Rider, Linda Bush and Laurie Batha who met during the summer to make plans for the breakfast and other band activities.

Dozen File For Seats on EPA Council

A dozen candidates are competing for four seats on the East Palo Alto Municipal Council in the November 7 general election.

Incumbents in each of the four districts where there is a position at stake face competition.

In District I, incumbent Clarence A. Jackson Jr. is being challenged by Harold L. (Hal) Dudley, a telephone repairman.

District II incumbent Henry E. Anthony has competition from L. A. (Breck) Breckenridge, a steamfitter, and from Hortense Davis, a practical nurse.

Clarence W. Burley, the incumbent in District IV, is being opposed by Joe Hardie, a loan officer, and by Gwen Shoaf, a teacher.

Districts I, II and IV positions are for four years. In District V, where Mary A. Detwyler recently was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Willia Gray, the post is for two years.

Mrs. Detwyler has three challengers — Odia R. Chiles, a student; Kenneth M. Washington, a broadcaster, and James L. Williams, a statistician.

Girls Help Injured RC Mother of 3

Two Belmont teenagers raised $135 during a recent car wash and then donated the money to help pay the hospital bills of a Redwood City mother who was seriously injured in an auto accident.

The youngsters, 18-year-old Margaret Myhre and 16-year-old Barbara Amundson, both Carlmont High School students, decided to have the benefit car wash after reading a newspaper account of the auto accident that injured Mrs. Marion Wuttke, 29, mother of three children.

Several friends joined the two girls at a Belmont service station where they washed approximately 50 cars. The group also sold pies, cookies and coffee to raise the money, which was placed in a local bank to help pay Mrs. Wuttke's hospital bills.

After donating the proceeds, the girls went to Stanford Hospital and met Mrs. Wuttke for the first time. Mrs. Wuttke is being treated for a head injury.

Mateo Group Sponsoring Book Drive

Books — all kinds of books — are being sought by the Friends of San Mateo Library, who are planning an October book sale to raise funds for needed library services.

Proceeds will provide additional services in the children's department at the library and much-needed records and cassettes.

Residents are being asked to donate old and new volumes from their home libraries, as well as records and posters to be sold. Planners hope some rare volumes may show up in the collections.

Pick-up service will be provided for donors who offer large collections, and collection points will be announced later, according to Mrs. Ralph Gaines, who has charge of pickup arrangements.

Book sale dates are scheduled October 26, 27 and 28.

Books, posters, unusual maps and music may be taken to the following collection points: the Main Library, the Marina and Hillsdale branches; and to San Mateo fire stations at 120 S. Ellsworth Avenue; Station No. 4 at 319 S. Humboldt Street; Station No. 5 at 545 Barneson Avenue; or to Central Hillsborough Station, 1600 Floribunda Avenue.

Burlingame Agency Workers 'Graduate'

Some very special and unusual "commencement exercises" were held the other day at the federal government's Defense Contract Administration Services regional agency at 866 Malcolm Road in Burlingame.

Even famed Oakland "A's" Pitcher Vida Blue was on hand for the event.

Each year and particularly this summer, the federal government has provided temporary jobs for high school and college age students.

They are paid from $1.65 to $3 per hour, depending on work performed and whether they took civil service exams to quality for the higher pay.

The purpose of the project is to introduce young people to various job opportunities, career prospects in government work, and to provide them with adult working experience frequently for the first time in their young lives. It shows them what they must do to prepare themselves for the type of career they may choose in the government field, officials explain.

At the end of the summer program, the federal agency holds a "graduation exercise." Each participant is presented with a certificate of accomplishment and receives public recognition, according to Captain John E. Morrissey, U.S. Navy, in charge of operations.

Captain Morrissey introduced the student participants and Oakland "A's" pitcher Vida Blue who presented the certificates.

It was explained that one summer student is hired for each group of 40 regular employes. There are 700 workers at the Defense Contract agency.

The summer job opportunity is particularly geared to encouraging young people to go back to school and hopefully to get a higher education.

WHO BETTER than Vida Blue to show what "pitching-in" can do? Here's the famed Oakland "A's" pitcher congratulating Miss Pearlena Avery and a whole class of graduates of summer employed youth and summer examination employes. There have been about 35 involved in summer work projects with the Defense Contract Administration Services Regional Agency with headquarters in Burlingame.

SMUHS Adult School Starts September 18

Adult school classes in the San Mateo Union High School District will begin the week of September 18, it was announced by Dr. Morris Winward, director.

Approximately 75 courses will be offered in seven locations from San Bruno to San Mateo, Winward said, and enrollment is expected to reach 2,800. An average of 125 students earn diplomas at the adult school each year.

The variety of class offerings covers a wide range of interest. Winward said, and provides instruction at both elementary and high school levels. Class schedules are available in public libraries and at the Adult School office, Room 10, Burlingame High School.

Among the courses offered this year are typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping in the secretarial field, and courses in auto mechanics for the layman electronics, woodshop, contemporary metal work, apprentice auto mechanics, and auto body in the vocational field.

For those with special interests, classes in arts, crafts, orchestra, photography, and interior decorating are offered. Clothing classes from the beginning level to advanced pattern adjustment and design are available at three locations.

Three foreign languages and 12 classes of English as a second language are scheduled. Beginning, intermediate, and advanced English make it possible to place a student at his own level of proficiency. Persons from 49 foreign countries were enrolled last spring in the English program.

Driving courses are available.

A women's physical fitness class will meet at Mills High School. The class for men will be at Hillsdale.

STRAINING MIGHTILY, a helicopter from San Francisco Helicopter Airlines last week lifted a 6200-pound water coo'ed air conditioner to the top of the 520 El Camino Real Building. What with removing an older device and lifting other parts for the installation, several trips were necessary, and residents throughout San Mateo heard the chopper's noise between 6 and 7 a.m. The work had to be done early when the air is heavy and the parking lot is empty.

A Place To Eat, To Relax Or To Entertain
And That's Just The Patio Or Balcony

Very often the patio or balcony with a fantastic view will go unused simply because it is not "furnished."
At Hutton Terrace every apartment rented in September will be furnished with A Patio Party Set. One of the most impressive things about our adult apartment community is the view and we want to make sure you enjoy it.
When you add this to the spacious and rustic styling of our 2-bedroom, 2-bath apartments, the easy access for commuters, the restful seclusion of the Belmont Hills, the AEK with dishwasher and pool and recreation room, you have not an apartment — but a HOME.

What a Guy Has to Go Through

THIS LITTLE GUY was born long-haired — but papa is a barber, and maybe that had something to do with it. Three-month-old Kenny Midile gets his first haircut under protest. He was born with a full head of hair, his father, Joseph, the barber explains, and long hair is not good for the barbershop business. That's Mrs. Midile's hand holding onto Kenny's tummy. The family home is at 1220 Lafayette Street, San Mateo.

That's a Little Better

LAFC Names Lindley

John P. Lindley of La Honda, a county conservation leader, has been appointed alternate public member of the San Mateo County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Lindley was named yesterday by the commission to serve in the absence of the commission's regular public member, Emory Morris, a San Mateo attorney. Although the commission has alternates for its county and city members, it has never had an alternate for the public member.

Lindley is manager of the electro-optic system for Applied Technology Division of Itek Corporation. He is a member of the Coastside Coordinating Council, an executive director of the Environmental Quality Coordinating Council and last year was San Mateo County conservation chairman for the Sierra Club.

Burlingame's Tax Rate Held to $1.15

A $4,910,936 budget and a $1.15 property tax rate were adopted for Burlingame last week, but pay negotiations with employes are not yet ended and may send the whole budget out of kilter.

Council Budget Committee Chairman R. David Martin made some bitter remarks about the "exorbitant" demands of employes.

"There are certain funds budgeted for this pay raise," he said, "and if they exceed that amount the only place the money can come from is from capital improvements."

Council members later met in closed executive session for a report on negotiations. They are said to be waiting today for response to a latest offer of pay and fringe benefit increases.

Councilmen Martin and Irving Amstrup, who together make up the budget committee, said the 1972-73 tax rate is "the same as last year's." Last August the rate was described as being within one cent of the city's lowest in 20 years.

With taxation of $1.15 on every $100 worth of property in the city, general taxes will raise only $301,000 toward the city's needs.

Five times as much, more than $1,528,000, will come from sales taxes on merchandise sold within the city. Among the 35 other sources of revenue, the next highest are gasoline and motor vehicle taxes, which together bring in as much money as the property tax.

Largest expenditures in the budget are allotments of $840,000 for the 59-man fire department and $705,000 for the 59-member police department. These allotments include capital expenditures.

The budget sets aside $400,000 to be saved up for financing a deepwater sewage outfall line, which is being demanded by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Councilman Martin commented that if employe pay demands are too great, the outfall line fund could be deplenished "and sooner or later we'll have to pay for it," with a tax rate increase.

Council member Dorothy Cusick asked if the budget contained allotments for new tennis courts, and was told it does not, for a couple of reasons. Although there has been some public interest in new courts, no specific requests have come up from the park department; and no plans for possible tennis courts are far enough along to be budgeted.

Mrs. Cusick also insisted that a $9,000 sum, set aside for work preparing a new City General Plan, be not spent without specific authorization of the Council. She said she wants to be aware of the scope of any work done, and b certain there is adequate provision for "citizen input."

Councilman William Crosby asked if the police department budget included some new employe positions that had been requested, and was told that "the money is there, but the positions are not authorized."

Free Film Show

At 2 p.m. today the San Mateo Fublic Library will have another of its free monthly film shows. Viewers will see "Octopus Hun.." an undersea hunt for octopus for Vancouver's aquarium, and "Arts and Crafts of Mexico." the story of the skills and traditions of Mexican craftsmen.
